Paper Plate Chicken

Supplies you will need:

- paper plate
- red, orange, and brown construction paper (or any colors you have)
- orange pipe cleaner (or any color)
- googly eye (if you have one)
- hole punch/ stapler
- glue/ scissors/ pencil

Directions:

1. Start by tracing your hand twice on red construction paper and once on orange construction paper (or use whatever colors you have) and then cut them out. Cut the thumb off one of the red hands. Cut a few strips of construction paper. These will be the tail feathers. Also, cut two feet and a beak out of your orange construction paper.
2. Staple or glue the 4-finger red hand to the top of your paper plate. Glue the other two hands together, layering them so both colors show, and glue them to your paper plate to make wings. Also, glue your googly eye onto your paper plate.
3. Staple or glue the beak onto the front of your paper plate. Next, fold your feather strips in half and staple them onto the back of your paper plate. Punch a hole into each of your feet and two more holes at the bottom of your paper plate. Cut your pipe cleaner in half and thread the sections through the chicken feet, and then thread them into the holes of the paper plate as shown in the picture above. Bend the pipe cleaner down on the back of the paper plate to hold the feet in place. Have fun!
