and abilities will have a chance to honor their family heritage by adding their handprints on a world map to show their city, state, or country of origin. At the same time, they will be helping to illustrate Dover's diverse population for generations to come.

Community Art Day will take place at The Cocheco Mills on the Atrium and Canal Level. The Atrium and Canal Level is on the back side of the mill, at the corner of Washington and Main streets. Enter via the covered walkway at the base of the smoke stack. For GPS purposes, the closest address is 47 Washington St. The Cocheco Mills parking lot is reserved for mill tenants, so visitors will need to park on the street or the Orchard Street Parking Garage.

The Henry Law Park Youth Mural Project is a community arts initiative intended to facilitate a conversation about our world and was inspired, in part, by a Native American Mi'kmaq (or Micmac) prayer about peace and healing among all people. The mural will celebrate Dover's diversity by depicting a map of the world using vibrant color, abstract imagery, painted handprints, and inspiring quotations. The large-scale artwork will face Henry Law Avenue, creating an inviting visual transition between the upper and lower sections of the park. The grand reveal of the mural will take place during a ribbon cutting ceremony later this summer. Stay tuned for a separate announcement in advance of the event.

This project is made possible by the New Hampshire State Council on the Arts, the City of Dover, the Kostis Family, Optima Bank and Trust, Dover Teen Center, and private donors.

On behalf of the City of Dover, the Planning and Community Development Department is pleased to announce the City's recently adopted Climate Adaptation Chapter of the Master Plan is the New Hampshire Planning Association's Plan of the Year. The Climate Adaptation Chapter was adopted by the Planning Board in February 2018.

The Climate Adaption Chapter represents another step in the City's ongoing efforts to recognize, understand and address effects of Climate Change. The chapter examines climate change in a comprehensive manner and is designed to inform future land use decisions and identify public and private risk and vulnerability. Specifically, the plan highlights the following topics: water availability and quality, health and safety, food, energy, infrastructure, and natural resources. Each topic was prepared with the best available existing condition data, as well as projected impact data associated with climate change.

The Chapter concludes with recommended "actions" intended to help address the issues identified in the chapter. The actions are divided into four categories: outreach and engagement; studies and initiatives; operations, policies and procedures; and regulatory. Additional information within the table includes the primary climate topic each action is associated with, interplay and overlap with other climate topics, a priority ranking, responsible party, and chapter reference where a reader can find more information and details about that action.

Public participation was a critical component during development of the chapter. A steering committee was formed with members of the public as well as the Planning Board, City Council, Open Lands Committee, Conservation Commission, and Energy Commission. All steering committee meetings were open to the public. A workshop was held that involved small breakout groups discussing each of the chapter's six main topics. The workshop discussions focused on responding to the draft actions for the topic and suggesting any additional actions for the topic. Additionally, an online survey gave workshop participants as well as individuals unable to attend the workshops an opportunity to provide input on the draft actions. A presentation of the draft chapter was provided to a number of City commissions, committees and boards at a Planning Board workshop. The development of the chapter concluded with a public hearing by the Planning Board to adopt the chapter.

The development of this chapter was guided by the steering committee, with assistance from City staff, the Strafford Regional Planning Commission, and both the University of New Hampshire Cooperative Extension and New Hampshire Sea Grant. Funding for the chapter was provided by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration's Office for Coastal Management under the Coastal Zone Management Act, in conjunction with the New Hampshire Department of Environmental Services Coastal Program.

This is the second Plan of the Year award the City has received from the New Hampshire Planning Association in the past three years. In 2016 the City was recognized for its Downtown Pedestrian and Vehicular Access Study. In addition to these plan awards, staff were recognized as Professional Planners of the Year in 2011 and 2014, and the City was recognized in 2010 for its form-based code zoning project, as project of the year.

Founded in 1970, NHPA is comprised of over 250 professional planners and seeks to support efforts that improve the quality of life in New Hampshire communities.

The Climate Adaptation Chapter is posted on the City's Master Plan page. It can also be found in the Planning Department located in City Hall and at the public library.

For more information, contact the Department of Planning and Community Development, located in City Hall or by phone at (603) 516-6008.

Dover Elks Lodge to host Flag Day ceremony June 14

Community members, young and old are invited to join the officers and members of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, Dover Lodge #184 at the Rotary Arts Pavilion in Henry Law Park on Thursday evening, June 14 at 6 p.m. as they perform their annual Flag Day Ceremony honoring the American flag. Esteemed Leading Knight and Flag Day Coordinator Brian Dailey has organized this year's ceremony and is looking forward to sharing the history and origin of our great Flag.

Over 107 years ago, members of the Elks Grand Lodge held a ceremony to honor the American flag and designated June 14 as Flag Day by a resolution and in 1911 adopted mandatory observance of the occasion by every Lodge. That requirement continues throughout the organization today.

With the effort and urging of the Elks, President Harry S. Truman, himself a member of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, in 1949 officially designated June 14 as Flag Day and an observance for all Americans.

Dover Mayor Karen Weston, along with Vietnam and Desert Storm veteran Ed St. Pierre, are the scheduled guest speakers for the evening, and the color guard from the Dover Police Department will present colors.

Paul Vatcher, PER, LM, will be assisted by Cub Scout Troop #195 as he shares the history during the parade of flags. Boy Scout Troop #173 will demonstrate the folding of the flag with an explanation of the meaning of each fold. Past exalted rulers of the Lodge will perform patriotic readings and lodge rrustee Jeff Slattery will be providing patriotic music for the evening.

It is the goal of Dover Elks Lodge #184 to host an evening of education and enjoyment in regards to "Old Glory", and share its history with the members of the community, said spokesman Barbara Allard.

This year marks the 150th anniversary for the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks. For more information about the Elks and the great work they do in local communities please visit www.elks.org.

Dover Rising Waters initiative holding contest for young artists

The Dover Rising Waters initiative is a group of volunteer citizens working to implement climate actions identified in the City's Master Plan. Its first undertaking, the High Water Mark Project, seeks to engage community members in proposing and implementing public art projects that convey future flood risks as sea levels rise and extreme precipitation events become more frequent and intense. The goal of the project will be visualized through public art projects in Dover that spark community conversations about the impacts of flooding and rising sea levels.

The first round of the High Water Mark Project focuses on youth art in the form of a public contest. At least one winning project proposal will be selected, and the artist will win a cash prize.

Following the winning selection, the High Water Mark Project team will seek funding for implementation of the designs and collaborate with the winning artist to implement and publicize the project. Additional rounds will focus on professional artists and other interested parties.

Traveling with Sketchbook in Hand

Sue Anne Bottomley has published three books, including "Colorful Journey: An Artist's Adventure: Drawing Every Town in New Hampshire. (see page 191 for Dover). She will be the Dover Public Library's June Artist of the Month, displaying acrylic paintings on wooden panels for a show she calls "From Pencil to Paintbrush: Inspiration from my Portsmouth Sketchbooks.

On June 12 at 6:30 p.m. she'll give her talk entitled "Traveling With Sketchbook in Hand, New Hampshire and Beyond". The talk will last 90 minutes. Bottomley will show about 40 images of various sketches. She'll take questions and give a short demo with her favorite art supplies with a chance for audience members to try them out. Autographed copies of the author's three books will be available for sale.

This presentation will be enjoyable to artists or art lovers of all ages, both professional and amateur. People who enjoy travel will also find much to enjoy.

Bottomley will bring her sketchbooks to look at, and some blank paper to try the art supplies. She will do a quick sketch/painting. Sue Anne will happily give out general art tips throughout the talk, but the evening will not be an instructional art class.

Bottomley was born in New Hampshire, but lived away for 40 years. Upon her return she started sketching what she saw around her and soon realized that she had over sketches from nineteen different towns and was inspired to sketch every town in New Hampshire. It took her two years of diligent driving, searching and sketching to make her book "Colorful Sketches" a reality. Her tools for the sketches were pencil, ink, watercolor, and colored pencils in various combinations.

The program is free and open to the public. For more information call the Library at 603-516-6050.

Simon Spier, it's a little more complicated. He hasn't told his family or friends that he's gay, and he doesn't know the identity of the anonymous classmate that he's fallen for online. Resolving both issues proves hilarious, terrifying and life-changing.
