COAST launches online survey

The Cooperative Alliance for Seacoast Transportation (COAST) is excited to announce that it has launched an online survey to help it collect public input as it takes a comprehensive look at the entire public transit system, changes in development and travel patterns across the region, and assesses how to potentially provide new opportunities to better serve the region as it is today and into the foreseeable future.

Rad Nichols, COAST Executive Director, related, "So far we have received some great input at the seven public forums that we held in October and early November." Nichols continued, "We hope to build on that input through encouraging everyone with an interest in public transit to take our online survey and help us potentially reshape COAST services for the future. The public's input is critical to the success of this project."

To take the survey, visit COAST's webpage dedicated to their ongoing planning efforts to relook their public transit system (www.coastbus.org/OurFuture). A link to the survey can be found on the project landing page.

COAST hopes that within the first couple of weeks in December there will be significant public input, from which they can begin to form a better understanding of the region's wants, needs and expectations. COAST will be reporting out on the initial public input gathered through their public forums and surveys in late January or early February.

Nichols added, "We really need and appreciate the public's input and participation, whether that be as a rider, local elected official, local business leader, city/town staff member, nonprofit/agency member, or an interested member of the public. We want to hear from a diverse cross section of the communities we serve."

The Cooperative Alliance for Seacoast Transportation (COAST) has provided public transit service to the Seacoast New Hampshire region since 1982. COAST is a public, non-profit transit system that relies primarily on federal and local government support to operate. COAST is governed by a board of directors representing the communities served, two regional planning commissions, and many local and state agencies.

Dover Youth to Youth offering tours of Santa's Castle

Dover Youth to Youth is hosting its annual Santa's Castle at the McConnell Center in downtown Dover on the two weekends before Christmas. Each night children and their families will be able to tour several rooms in Santa's Castle and meet Santa and many of his elves and other costumed characters.

During the first weekend the event will be held on Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 15 and 16, from 2 to 6:30 p.m. Over the second weekend the Castle will be open on Friday, Dec. 21, from 4:30 to 7:30 p.m.

During the tour, students from Youth to Youth will guide visitors through Rudolph's stable, Santa's toy room, Mrs. Claus's Kitchen and other parts of the Castle. Along the tour children may choose to take part in a variety activities, including such things as decorating a cookie in Mrs. Claus' kitchen, make crafts in Santa's toy shop, write a letter to Santa, or make "reindeer food" in the stable.

Families touring Santa's Castle will also meet Santa's Elves, various costumed characters, and Santa himself. Families are welcome to bring a camera and take pictures or video of their children with Santa.

Santa's Castle is designed for children ages nine and under, but the whole family is invited. The cost is $8 per child and $4 per adult. However, a whole family can take the tour for a maximum of $25. Proceeds support the anti-drug activities of Dover Youth to Youth. Santa's Castle is sponsored by radio station 98.1 WTSN and The BAY.

Entrance to Santa's Castle will be from the Saint Thomas Street side of the McConnell Center (Door #7). Parking is available in the parking lot located behind the Dover Public Library and on the street by the District Court.

For additional information, go to the Youth to Youth web site at www.DoverY2Y.org or call the Dover Police Department's Community Outreach Bureau at 516-3274.

Dover Youth to Youth is an organization made up of middle and high school students who meet after school to conduct activities and events that promote a drug-free life style. Youth to Youth is coordinated by the Dover Police Department and it is a component of the Police Department's Community Outreach Bureau.

Miss the Holiday Parade? Catch in online and on Channel 22

The annual Holiday Parade was held on Sunday, Nov. 25. If you missed this year's parade or want to see it again, you can catch it on Channel 22 or online, on demand here: <https://dovernh.viebit.com/player.php?hash=FQAVPOtOWnTf>.

The parade is organized by the Dover Children's Center and underwritten by Liberty Mutual. The theme of this year's parade is "Christmas Through the Decades."

The parade's grand marshal for 2018 is Patty Rawding Anderson, executive director of Reach for the Top Outpatient Pediatric Rehabilitation Program.

Dover Fire Toy Bank now seeking donations

The leaves have fallen, the weather is much colder, the days are getting shorter and that means the 2018 Dover Fire Toy Bank has started planning for their annual toy bank.

The Dover Fire Toy Bank has been coordinated by current and retired members of the Dover Fire & Rescue for more than 40 years. The Toy Bank started out all those years ago helping a dozen families in the city, it has now grown to helping over 350 families. While Christmas typically conjures up visions of Santa and toys, the Toy Bank also provides educational aids, warm clothing, and boots to many children in Dover.

Games and toys are fun; but this year as in the recent past, the Dover Toy Bank is also anticipating an increased need for the fundamentals for many Dover families.

The Dover community - area businesses, seniors, families, school groups, civic groups and others have been very supportive and generous in the past. Donations of toys, games, clothing, personal hygiene items, gift certificates, and monetary donations have enabled us to help those less fortunate. The Toy Bank would not be successful without continued help from the community.

Here's how to help: Collect new toys within your organization for age groups from newborn to 12 years old. If looking for a specific need to fill, the infant and 9-12 age groups are always in need for both boys and girls. If you need a collection box, please call 603-516-TOYS, leave a message and we will get you one for your business.

Purchase gift cards to area businesses, mall stores, and grocery stores are always appreciated.

Shop for hats and mittens, gloves and scarves that are needed for the cold winter. These gifts help ensure each child receives these essentials.

Collecting monetary donations within an organization and shopping for gifts helps greatly. If you don't have time to shop for these items, the Toy Bank will do it for you.

Toy Bank volunteers will pick up donations on site or drop off new, unwrapped items at these locations: Dover Central Fire Station (9-11 Broadway), South End Fire Station (27 Durham Road) or the North End Fire Station (262 Sixth St.) anytime until Christmas evening.

Monetary contributions can be picked up on location or mailed to Dover Fire Toy Bank, P.O. Box 1712, Dover, NH 03821-1712. Please make checks payable to The Dover Fire Toy Bank.

For more information, or to help wrap presents, call 603-516-TOYS (8697).

Police now accepting names for holiday food baskets

Dover Police Chief William M. Breault announces the Police Department is now accepting names of needy families residing in Dover for the annual Holiday Food Basket Program.

The Police Department sponsors this program each December to provide holiday dinners to families in Dover. Last year, more than 125 baskets of food were distributed to families throughout the community.

In addition, a large quantity of food was provided to the Dover Children's Home and My Friend's Place homeless shelter.

In order to make this program a success, donations are needed from the community. Non-perishable food items, canned goods, or monetary donations (checks should be made payable to Dover Police Charities) will be accepted at the Dover Police Department, 46 Chestnut St. If you cannot arrange for delivery to the police station, call 603-742-4646 and pick up will be arranged.

Volunteers from the Dover Police Department will prepare and deliver the baskets on Saturday, Dec. 22.

For more information, visit the Holiday Food Basket Program page here:

Storm-based winter parking bans

Earlier this year, the City Council approved a change in the city's winter parking ban procedures. Parking bans are now determined on a storm-by-storm basis.

When required for snow plowing or cleanup, the Community Services Director will declare a parking ban by 3 p.m. The ban will then take effect at 10 p.m. citywide, except downtown, which will begin at 1 a.m. the following morning.

When a declared parking ban is in effect, parking on city streets is prohibited. Any vehicle parked on the street, sidewalk or adjacent public parking area during a declared parking ban may be ticketed and/or towed at the vehicle owner's expense.

For more information about winter parking bans, visit the parking ban page here: go.usa.gov/xPVk5.

There are a number of ways for residents to stay informed about weather-related parking bans:

Tune into Channel 22, where winter parking ban notifications will appear when declared.

Sign up for text alerts, which will be sent when a parking ban is declared, via the city's emergency notification system, CodeRed. Select "Parking Ban Notifications." You can access the sign-up page here:

<https://public.coderedweb.com/CNE/en-US/BF3E3900491F>. Please note that to sign up for text alerts, you must create a managed account. Once created, you'll see the option to select parking ban notifications.

Sign up for email alerts at bit.ly/doverdownload. Select Parking Ban Alerts.

Call 603-516-PARK (7275) for the current parking ban status. (Will be activated Nov. 15).

The current parking ban status will be posted online at drivingdover.com and the city's winter parking ban page at www.dover.nh.gov/government/city-operations/police/parking-bureau/parking-bans.html.

Follow the city's social media accounts on Facebook and Twitter for parking ban updates and status.

Parking ban declarations will also be sent to local media, including newspaper, radio and television outlets.

The new storm-based parking ban ordinance replaces the former winter parking ban, which was in effect from Dec. 1 to April 1.

For more information about winter parking bans, including how to sign up for notifications, visit drivingdover.com or contact the Parking Bureau at 516-6132 or parking@dover.nh.gov.

Holiday Recess

The following events are recorded in "Notable Events in the History of Dover, New Hampshire: From the First Settlement in 1623 to 1865," by George Wadleigh, and several other historical sources.

For more on the history of Dover, settled in 1623 and the oldest permanent settlement in New Hampshire and seventh oldest in the country, visit the Dover Public Library, Locust Street; and the Woodman Museum, Central Avenue. The Public Library also maintains an online collection of historical information, located here.

Dec. 3, 1701 - Commissioners were appointed by the Council to run the lines between the several towns of the Province and to "make good and sufficient bound trees or bound marks" - the Dover commissioners consisting of Capt. John Tuttle, Lt. James Davis and Lt. William Furber.

Dec. 6, 1773 - The "institution of slavery" existed, (though it could hardly be said to flourish) in Dover, until after the Declaration of Independence. On Dec. 6, 1773, Col. Otis Baker bought of Henry Ward of Newport, Rhode Island, "a negro boy named Cato," which boy the aforesaid Ward, for and in consideration of the sum of "one thousand four hundred pounds, old tenor," promised the said Baker to "defend to him and his assigns forever, against the lawful claims of all persons whatsoever." On June 4, 1777, Col. Baker gave Cato his freedom, the certificate of emancipation being signed by Jeremy Belknap as a witness. By the census of 1775 there were "26 negroes and slaves for life " in Dover in that year. These were mostly emancipated by their nominal owners during the revolution, or all became free by general consent and the adoption of the State Constitution soon after. Many of them, however, remained for life in the families which they had served as slaves, preferring the protection of their old masters to the larger liberty which was offered them.

Nov. 30, 1847 - The Strafford Bank moved from its old location near the Dover Hotel, to Central Square.

Dec. 2, 1860 - Dedication of First Congregational Chapel on Central street, which was built this year.

Local author Seth Ulinski to speak at the Dover Public Library

The Dover Public Library is pleased to announce that local author Seth Ulinski will be speaking at the library on Tuesday, Dec. 11 at 6:30 p.m. about his recently published book "Amazing Heights: How Short Men Stand Tall". The library enjoys helping authors promote their works to the wider public. A copy of Seth's book is located in the library's collection.

SETH ULINSKI

Seth notes that the personal development industry will surpass $10 billion in 2018 but you would be hard-pressed to find anything that addresses the unique challenges of one particular group: short guys. Per the U.S. Census Bureau, there are approximately 60 million adult males below average height, which is 5'10". Only a select few in the men's clothing industry have recognized that one size does not fit everyone under 5'10". With this in mind, "Amazing Heights" is the first personal development book dedicated to the short guy fraternity.

Since he was a child, Seth has been fascinated with sports. He played basketball, baseball, and football until a car accident in his sophomore year of high school. Multiple surgeries and a long recovery process gave him a stronger appreciation for seatbelts and good health. As an adult, Seth was diagnosed with rare autoimmune disorders, requiring thyroid and eye surgery. While educating himself on how to manage these life-altering events, Seth realized the value of self-care. Today, he's grateful for these setbacks, drawing strength, courage, and wisdom from them as part of his wider self-improvement work. Read more on Seth's blog at <https://amazingheights.blog/>.

Seth Ulinski is a Dover resident and a graduate of Clemson University in South Carolina. While attending Clemson, Seth was a member of the Pi Kappa Phi fraternity. At 5'7", he is also a member of the short guy fraternity.

The program is free and open to the public.

STEM Saturday at the Library: Dover Shockwave Robotics Team and Snap Circuits

Join us on Saturday, Dec. 8 at 2 p.m. in the Dover Public Library Lecture Hall to meet members of Dover High School's Shockwave Robotics Team. Dover Shockwave is a part of First Robotics, a youth organization that stands "For Inspiration and Recognition of Science and Technology." FIRST sponsors robotics competitions all over the United States, bringing together teams from all around the globe.

The Dover team was established to encourage student growth in science, technology, art, engineering, mathematics, and business. We will meet their robot, as well as learn about their team and the process they used to design and build the robot. They will also demonstrate how the robot works.

After the demonstration, kids in grades K and up are invited to stay and play with Snap Circuits. Snap Circuits expose young children to elementary engineering concepts and offer a range of building challenges using a breadboard with prewired interconnections. Various components can be snapped to the board to easily create a working circuit. This STEM program is free for all; no pre-registration is required.

For more information, call the Dover Public Library at 603-516-6050.

Portsmouth poet Claire Conroy to speak at the Dover Public Library

Local Portsmouth poet Claire Conroy will be speaking at the Dover Public Library on Monday, Dec. 10 at 6:30 p.m. She has just published her book of poetry, "Listen", and will be reading selections from it. She will sign copies and have copies available for purchase at the event.

Moved by image-provoking writing all her life, Claire Conroy has always felt connected to words and their effects on people. One of many varied interests, writing has been revisited throughout her life. During an especially difficult break-up years ago, poetry became a valued outlet for healing. She decided to start the project she had always longed to achieve: to finally write a volume of poetry. Claire realized that all her experiences up to that point were to get to this precipice and take that final leap into the literary world.

After late nights of dedicated soul diving, anguish and enthusiasm, Claire has completed over 40 poems ranging from musings on heartbreak, love and passion; appreciation and worship of life and nature; praising and damning of historical figures; and funny observations from the emotional emancipation of a 40-something year old woman from Portsmouth.

The program is free and open to the public.

For more information call the Library at 603-516-6050.

Local Author David W. Moore to speak at the Dover Public Library

The Dover Public Library is pleased to announce that local author David W. Moore will be speaking at the library on Wednesday, Dec. 5 at 6:30 p.m. Moore will be speaking about his most recent book "Small Town, Big Oil: The Untold Story of the Women Who Took on the Richest Man in the World - And Won" which tells the story of the attempt in 1973 by Aristotle Onassis to build an oil refinery in the town of Durham.

In the fall of 1973, the Greek oil-shipping magnate Aristotle Onassis, husband of President John F. Kennedy's widow, Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis, and arguably the richest man in the world, proposed to build an oil refinery on the narrow New Hampshire coast, in the town of Durham, home to the University of New Hampshire. At the time, it would cost $600 million to build ($3.2 billion in today's currency) and would pump 400,000 barrels of oil a day, making it the largest oil refinery in the world. The project was vigorously supported by NH's governor, Meldrim Thomson, and by William Loeb, the notorious publisher of the only statewide newspaper, the Manchester Union Leader.

But three women vehemently opposed the project - Nancy Sandberg, the town leader who founded and headed Save Our Shores; Dudley Dudley, the freshman state representative who took the fight to the state Legislature; and Phyllis Bennett, the publisher of a local newspaper that alerted the public to the secret acquisition of land. "Small Town, Big Oil" is the story of how the residents of Durham, led by these three women - who were demeaned by the Union Leader as "little ladies" vainly "beating their small breasts" - out-organized, out-witted, and out-maneuvered the governor, the publisher of the statewide newspaper, and the Onassis men to hand the powerful Greek billionaire the most humiliating defeat of his business career, and spare the New Hampshire seacoast from becoming an industrial wasteland.

David W. Moore is a senior fellow of the Carsey Institute at the University of New Hampshire. A former senior editor of the Gallup Poll, where he worked for thirteen years, Moore also served as professor of political science at UNH and is the founder and former director of the UNH Survey Center. The author of two previous books, "How to Steal an Election" and "The Superpollsters", Moore has also written for the New York Times, The Nation, and the Boston Globe, among other publications, and has appeared on The Today Show and NPR's Fresh Air as well as C-SPAN's Booknotes. He lives in Durham, New Hampshire.

Moore will sign copies of his book, which will be on sale at this event. The program is free and open to the public.

For more information, call the Library at 603-516-6050.
