Apple Harvest Day parking and traffic restrictions

Dover Police Chief William M. Breault announces the following street closures and parking restrictions for the Greater Dover Chamber of Commerce's annual Apple Harvest Day festival.

On Saturday, Oct. 6, 2018 from 6 a.m. until 5 p.m., the following streets will be closed to all traffic:

- Central Avenue, southbound from Fourth to Washington streets
- First, Second and Third streets, between Chestnut Street and Central Avenue
- Henry Law Avenue, from Washington to Williams streets

The traffic direction on Fourth Street, from Chestnut Street to Central Avenue, will be reversed between 6 a.m. and 5 p.m. on Saturday. Fourth Street is normally open to one-way traffic eastward only, but the traffic pattern will shift to one-way westward during the festival. This is to allow for Central Avenue southbound traffic to be diverted to Chestnut Street, since construction has made the Third Street Lot unavailable. Motorists should expect delays in the downtown area, and through traffic should avoid the area entirely.

Limited parking for the festival will be available in the Orchard Street parking garage, the Library and McConnell Center municipal lot, and the Dover Transportation Center lot. Off-site parking with a free shuttle service will be provided between 9:30 a.m. and 4 p.m. at CVS Pharmacy, at 118 Central Ave., and at Liberty Mutual (100 Liberty Way, off Sixth Street).

On Saturday morning, there will be additional road

Beaudoin to be presented with Library Director of the Year Award during public reception Oct. 9

The New Hampshire Library Trustees Association (NHTLA) will formally present Dover Library Director Cathleen Beaudoin with the 2018 Library Director of the Year Award on Tuesday, Oct. 9, during a public reception at the Dover Public Library from 4 to 6 p.m. The award will be presented by Mary Castelli, president of the NHTLA. Light refreshments will be served during the event, which is open to all.

Dover's library trustees were notified in September that Beaudoin was chosen as Library Director of the Year from a large number of nominations. In her letter to the Dover Public Library's Board of Trustees, Castelli said the NHTLA was "particularly impressed with all Cathleen has accomplished in her long career" at the Dover Public Library.

Trustees, library staff and City Manager J. Michael Joyal, Jr. surprised Beaudoin with the announcement during a small celebration on Sept. 26.

Joyal, along with Denise LaFrance, Dover's reference librarian, and the Dover Library Board of Trustees, wrote letters in support of Beaudoin to the NHTLA.

In his letter to the NHTLA, Joyal said Beaudoin has long been a champion of leveraging technology to improve access and services at the library.

"As a result of Cathy's vision, Dover's Public Library was one of the first in New Hampshire to convert to an electronic card catalog, provide access to the internet and begin moving towards the availability of more digital content starting in the early 1990's," Joyal wrote. "Cathy spearheaded this effort as the internet 'information superhighway' was first evolving with public libraries becoming the 'on ramps' for public access. Her efforts included coordination with the local school district to ensure that a single library system with internet access and expanded digital offerings could serve not only the needs of the public at large but also our public school needs. It is because of Cathy's foresight and leadership that our DoverNet Library System remains as an information resource model for public library systems serving communities and schools not only here in New Hampshire but across our country."

In their letter of unanimous support, the Library Board of Trustees wrote, "Cathy is one of the foremost experts on Dover History which she generously shares with local museums, civic organizations and city committees. She was instrumental in organizing and scripting many historical reenactments highlighting Dover history through key areas such as our factories, rivers, cemetery, etc., as well as documenting and leading tours of historic neighborhoods. Cathy also provides 3rd grade history walks. She has been published as the author of books about the area and its rich history."

LaFrance, writing on behalf of the staff of the library, said Beaudoin encourages new ideas and creative thinking. In addition, LaFrance wrote that Beaudoin continually provides encouragement and guidance to staff.

"Cathy has empowered the staff to deal with unique issues and problems that can arise in a busy 21st century public library," LaFrance wrote. "Staff members have participated in in-house classes, webinars, and continuing education on topics such as homelessness, mental illness, and substance abuse. These are sensitive all issues that Cathy herself models best practices for, allowing the staff to learn and therefore become more compassionate librarians and community advocates."

According to the NHTLA, eligibility for the top award includes being an active advocate for promoting libraries, endorsed by the library's board of trustees, developing program and services to meet community needs and enhancing the quality of life, and demonstrating effective management and development skills with staff and volunteers.

Beaudoin has been with the city's library for 43 years, beginning in 1975. She became library director in 1999.

The City of Dover has been a CDBG entitlement community for over 25 years. The HUD program provides annual grants on a formula basis to entitled cities and counties to develop viable urban communities by providing decent housing and a suitable living environment, and by expanding economic opportunities, principally for low and moderate income people. HUD awards grants to entitlement community grantees to carry out a wide range of community development activities directed toward revitalizing neighborhoods, economic development, and providing improved community facilities and services. Entitlement communities develop their own programs and funding priorities. The entitlement grant is expected to be available in the summer or fall of 2019. The amount to be received by the City of Dover has yet to be determined by Congress.

receive Capital Improvements
Program

The City of Dover's Capital Improvements Program (CIP) for fiscal years 2020 through 2025 was presented to the City Council and Planning Board at a joint workshop on Wednesday, Oct. 3, 2018. The workshop can be viewed online here.

A video detailing the projects in the first year of the plan can be viewed here.

The Planning Board and City Council will continue to review the CIP over the next several weeks. The City Council is expected to vote on the proposed CIP in November or December.

The CIP is a tool which outlines a schedule for the next six years for capital projects and purchases over $25,000 which maintain and improve the community infrastructure.

According to Christopher G. Parker, Dover's Director of Planning and Community Development, Dover is excited to release the proposed CIP for the Council and Planning Board's review and hopes the community is interested in learning about future capital improvements in the works. CIP projects range from complex road reconstructions to routine maintenance and replacement of equipment.

The CIP is updated annually and involves input sessions with the Planning Board and City Council, including public hearings. The Planning Board will forward its recommendations to the City Council, after which the City Council will discuss and ultimately approve the CIP later this year.

To view the updated CIP projects visit the City of Dover's CIP web page here. Contained within the page is a video overview of projects proposed in the first year of the program.

Tickets now on sale for "Lives & Legends: Voices From the Museum"

On Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 20 and 21, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., the Woodman Museum, along with a cast of 40 actors and tour guides, will proudly present its sixth re-enactment event, "Lives & Legends: Voices From the Museum."

The 90-minute guided walk through 19 scenes are spread throughout the museum's four-building campus. Visitors will meet famous and infamous Dover citizens and historical characters who have come back from the dead to narrate their stories. In two scenes, these renowned Dover citizens are still alive and have remarkable tales to tell.

Visitors will learn how some of the museum's most extraordinary artifacts, like its iconic 10-foot polar bear, Nanuq, came to reside in Dover. Along the route, guests will meet the farmer who shot the last cougar killed in New Hampshire (you'll meet the cougar, too), an Arctic explorer poisoned by his crew, the museum's first curators, a Purple Heart-awarded Navy nurse, veterans of the Revolutionary War and the Civil War, a nearly 300-year-old wooden doll, two hale and hardy 19th century sea captains, several striking mill girls from the Cocheco cotton factory, a NH governor, a prominent minister, various 17th-century colonists who are fearing an attack on their garrison, and a famous Dover boat builder.

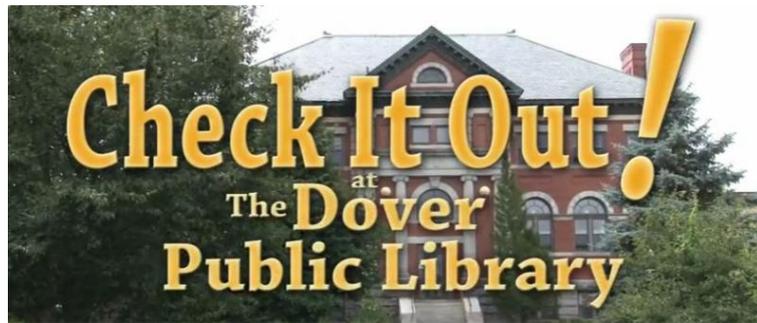

"Lives & Legends" is a brand new tour, not a repeat of any previous tours of the museum.

The organizers of this year's re-enactment are the same people who produced the previous, popular historic tours of Dover's downtown mills, Garrison Hill and Pine Hill Cemetery. The event is suitable for even younger children. Stair climbing is involved, so those with mobility issues may not be able to do the whole route.

Tickets for "Lives & Legends: Voices From the Museum" are now on sale. Prices are $15 for adults and $10 for children 12 and under. You must choose a specific time to start your tour (with maximum group size at 15 people), from 10 a.m. to 4:45 p.m. on Saturday or Sunday. Tours will leave every 15 minutes. Each group is limited to 15 people. Reserve your spots early in order to get the time you want.

For more information, call the Woodman Museum at 603-742-1038.

Dover's water quality reports available online

Each year, the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) requires community water systems to deliver a Consumer Confidence Report -- also known as an Annual Drinking Water Quality Report -- to their customers. These reports, which are mailed out to water customers by July 1, provide information about their drinking water quality including a summary of detected contaminants from the previous year, compliance, and educational information.

Water quality testing results and the annual water standards reports can be found on the city's website here: <http://www.dover.nh.gov/government/city-operations/community-services/water-quality/index.html>.
