DOVER CITY COUNCIL

ON THE AGENDA

Coming up at the next City Council meeting

Council to hold public hearing on bonding for public-private partnership

Pay-as-you-throw trash bags, additional work for water tank rehab also on agenda

The City Council at its Wednesday, Aug. 14 meeting will hold a public hearing on a resolution authorizing $2 million in bonding for an FY2025 Capital Improvements Program project that would reimburse a private developer for public improvements related to the Terra Nova/Westfield Land Development Agreement the Council authorized in 2022. The Council is scheduled to vote on the resolution at its next meeting on Wednesday, Aug. 28.

In February 2022, followed by an August 2022 amendment, the City Council authorized the city to enter into a public-private partnership in developing two parcels adjacent to Littleworth Road – one owned by Terra Nova LLC and the other by Westfield LLC, both business entities of Dover resident and developer Chad Kageleiry. The project, according to the agreement, "will bring significant tax revenues and jobs" to the city through a "planned mixed-use development with residential, commercial and industrial/manufacturing components."

Saturday:
8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

The agreement calls for the city to reimburse the developer for costs associated with the public improvements, which include building the road and installing water and sewer utilities. The project also includes creating a road connection between Crosby Road and Industrial Park Drive. Per the agreement, which allows for a multi-year, multi-phase project, the city will not reimburse for the public improvements until each development phase is complete and generating property taxes. The first phase included the development of Bluebird Self Storage, which has an estimated taxable value exceeding the amount needed to service the $2 million bond.

Also on the agenda:

- Authorizing the purchase of pay-as-you-throw trash bags used for curbside solid waste collection for $165,000. The city went out to bid last year, and the resolution would authorize the city to continue contracting with the same provider. The costs remain the same for the current fiscal year: $78.88 per case of 30-gallon bags and $57.60 per case of 15-gallon bags.
- Authorizing an additional scope of work for the Garrison Hill water tank rehabilitation work. The resolution would authorize appropriating $105,500 to Underwood Engineers to create design documents that would replace an 1888 vintage transmission line from the water tank to Broadway via Oak Street, which has been the subject of numerous water main breaks, including the one last month that shut down Broadway for nearly 24 hours. The Council previously authorized $200,000 for preliminary and final design work for the Garrison Hill water tank rehabilitation.
- Authorizing the city to contract with Vanasse Hangen Brustlin (VHB), Inc. of Bedford for $99,774 to evaluate existing Crosby Road roadside swales and culverts and provide stormwater improvement recommendations. The evaluation of the watershed and drainage network is anticipated to include the various road and CSX railroad bridge crossings observed by Community Service staff responding to flooding concerns by property owners in the project area. The watershed to be studied is approximately 487 acres.

The meeting begins at 7 p.m. in City Hall's Council Chambers. It will be televised on Channel 22 and online at <https://dovernh.viebit.com>, where it will also be available for on-demand viewing.

Dover Arts Commission members brighten up graffitied jersey barriers

Volunteers from the Dover Arts Commission and Dover Doers recently covered up graffiti-laden jersey barriers on Henry Law Avenue with new art with a clever nod to the Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles, which had their start in Dover.

The graffiti eyesore came to the attention of Dover Doer founder Deborah Clough from River Bend Pizza & Subs owner Bob Shaw, whose business overlooks Henry Law Park and the jersey barriers.

Clough immediately brought it to the attention of the Dover Arts Commission, said DAC Vice Chair Cliff Blake. With donated paint from the city's Planning Department and art design from DAC member Elise Morrissette, the crew got to work and gave the barriers a bright new life last week. Joining in the painting fun were DAC members Morrissette, Blake, Jacqueline Manning, Sarah Davidson and Steve Bargdill.

The barriers are at Henry Law Avenue at Payne Street (formerly River Street).

Let us know here: <https://polco.us/mrckze>.

Please note that if you don't already have an account with Polco, the city's polling system, you will be asked to create one.

Here are the top results from last week's poll, which asked, "Do you participate in any of the following composting methods?"

The following events are from various historical records, sources, and texts about the history of Dover.

For more on the history of Dover, visit the Dover Public Library, Locust Street, and the Woodman Museum on Central Avenue. The Public Library also maintains an online collection of historical information located here.

Aug. 15, 1792 — "There has been as great a drought in this part of the country for this three weeks past, as was ever known in this county, there not having been any rain of consequence these four weeks, till last Sunday evening, when we had a very severe shower attended with as heavy thunder and sharp lightning as has been known here these several years; it broke in a number of places in this town, but we have not as yet heard of its doing any damage. The corn in dry places, we apprehend, is too far gone to be recovered by the refreshing shower." (Dover Phoenix)

Aug. 11, 1826 — Great rains and freshets carried away dams and bridges, and significantly damaged crops. In a period of 35 days, from Aug. 11 to Sept. 14, rain fell on 17 days. "A damp mold and rust are penetrating every part of our dwellings. The hay in our barns, the vegetables in our gardens, and the potatoes in our fields are perishing with rot." (N.H. Republican)

Aug. 14, 1863 — On this day, during the American Civil War, Dover drafted 152 men to replenish the depleted ranks of New Hampshire regiments fighting for the Union. To support these draftees, the City Council passed an ordinance promising a payment of $300 (equivalent to about $6,500 in 2024) to each drafted man or his substitute. This payment would be made 10 days after the individual was officially enlisted into the United States military service. When the draft results were announced, the newly conscripted men from Dover gathered in front of the City Hall. From there, they organized a march through the main streets of the city, complete with music and torches. Despite the serious nature of being drafted into a war, the atmosphere was surprisingly positive. The account notes that there was great enthusiasm and a sense of goodwill among the participants and onlookers.

Aug. 14, 1955 — Dover began a weeklong centennial celebration to mark 100 years as a city.

Aug. 14, 2001 — Dover's public schools announced that longer school days would start Sept. 5 of that year. As a result of the change, students would have an additional 18 to 33 minutes in class compared to the previous academic year. High school classes would end at 2:30 p.m. instead of 2:04 p.m., middle school at 2:15 p.m., and elementary schools at 3:30 p.m. instead of 2:47 p.m. The decision was made during contract negotiations with the Dover Teachers Union, aiming to increase instructional time to accommodate more academic subjects.
