ON THE AGENDA Coming up at the next City Council meeting

Capital Improvements Program, Warming Center on Council's Agenda

The City Council will consider adopting the FY2027-2032 Capital Improvements Program at its Wednesday, Dec. 10 meeting. They will also hold a public hearing and a vote on a FY2026 budget amendment to fund Dover's share of construction costs of a permanent emergency cold weather warming center on Strafford County grounds.

The FY26 budget amendment would appropriate $1,698,878 for the warming center that the Strafford County Commissioners propose to build at the former humane society site near the county jail. The county would supply the land at no cost, and the tri-cities of Dover, Rochester and Somersworth would divide the estimated $3.5 million project cost in proportion to each city's portion of the combined equalized assessed property value, with Rochester's share $1,316,593, and Somersworth's share at $484,593. Dover's portion would be partly offset by the planned sale of the current warming center at 30 Willand Drive in Somersworth after the conclusion of the winter season, as well as the proceeds from a recent sale of city-owned property in Rollinsford.

The vote on the FY27-32 CIP consists of three votes. One is on adopting the long-term planning document itself, which does not authorize or appropriate funding. The second will be authorizing and appropriating $4.6 million for FY27 non-debt finance projects. The third resolution would authorize bonding for debt-financed projects. The original resolution had planned for $37 million for debt-financed projects; however, at the Council's Dec. 3 workshop, City Manager J. Michael Joyal, Jr., recommended reducing the debt-financing portion to $15 million. City Manager Joyal also recommended other changes to the six-year CIP planning document.

The City Council will also consider resolutions authorizing:

- $138,428 for the City of Dover's annual contribution to the Municipal Alliance for Adaptive Management as part of the EPA's Nitrogen General Permit, which includes monitoring water quality and tracking reductions and additions of total nitrogen in the Great Bay Estuary.
- The purchase of six Ford pickup trucks for various Community Service divisions for $370,666.
- $135,400 for design and pre-construction services from Martini Northern for the renovation of the existing public works facility and the addition to the Inspection Services Building.

The meeting begins with proclamations to Cliff Blake, Dover Junior Football, and Dover High School Field Hockey and Soccer teams.

The complete agenda is available online.

This is the last meeting for the 2024-2025 City Council, including for Mayor Robert Carrier, who has served on the City Council since 2008 when he was first elected in a Ward 1 special election. It is also the last meeting for the following City Councilors who did not run for reelection: Robert Warch, representing Ward 2; Debra Hackett, representing Ward 4; and Linnea Nemeth, representing the city in the at-large position.

The City Council meeting will be held in City Hall's Council Chambers and televised on DoverTV and online, where it will be available on demand.

Dover High School breaks ground on Athletic Complex overhaul

City and school officials, students and community members gathered Wednesday, Dec. 3, to break ground on the overhaul of the Dover High School Athletic Complex.

The ceremony at Dunaway Field marked the official start of construction on the more than $18 million project, which includes replacing the track, reconfiguring fields, and building a new synthetic turf baseball and multi-sport field. Work is expected to continue through winter, with the goal of opening at least part of the complex for fall 2026 sports, officials said.

Joint Building Committee Chair and City Councilor Fergus Cullen opened the ceremony by emphasizing the value of athletics and youth programs.

"A lot of the adults here would point to a teacher or a coach who played that role in their lives, and so it's appropriate we're here at a school to get this athletic field going and underway with this official groundbreaking," Cullen said.

Cullen also recognized the work of committee members and project partners, noting their efforts allowed construction to begin before winter conditions set in. "They have really delivered on behalf of our community," he said.

Superintendent Christine Boston told the crowd the project represents a significant step forward for Dover.

"Today marks a really exciting milestone for our district and our community," Boston said. "We're here not to just to break ground on a new field complex, but to lay the foundation for opportunities that will inspire generations of students. This project represents more than bricks, turf and trampolines. It symbolizes our commitment to excellence, teamwork and the well-being of every student."

Outgoing Mayor Robert Carrier, participating in one of his final official events, reflected on the decade of planning and construction that began with the new high school, completed in 2018.

"This really touches the heart," Carrier said. He recalled the original vision for a new track and field that could not be completed at the time due to cost. "We've got phenomenal support in this city. It's incredible. And now let's get it done."

Students, school leaders, city officials, construction officials and Joint Building Committee members each took ceremonial turns moving dirt, officially beginning the next phase of construction.

Demolition of the existing grandstands and concessions building began prior to the ceremony, with site work scheduled to continue through the winter, according to the committee.

40th annual Christmas tree lighting is tonight at Henry Law Park

Dover Recreation will present the City of Dover's 40th annual Christmas tree lighting tonight, Friday, Dec. 5, at 6 p.m. at Henry Law Park, continuing one of Dover's longest-running holiday traditions.

This year's program will begin with remarks from Recreation Director Kevin Hebert, followed by a welcome from Mayor Robert Carrier. The Dover Middle School Chorus will lead attendees in seasonal songs before former Mayor Andy Galt switches on the tree's lights. Local vocalist Nancy Gurick will also lead the crowd in song, and the program will conclude with closing remarks from Hebert.

The city's holiday tree was donated by Carol and Alan Brown of Rochester.

This year's lighting also features the added support of Light Up Dover, a community effort led by the Dover City Lights Committee in partnership with the nonprofit Communitively. The group helped secure the holiday tree, raised funds for new lights and ornaments, and coordinated volunteers for decorating.

The event is free and open to the public.

Catch Dover's Festival of Trees tonight

The 16th annual Dover Festival of Trees will take place on Friday, Dec. 5, from 4 to 8 p.m. at the Rivermill at Dover Landing. The event is free and open to the public.

The Greater Dover Chamber of Commerce, the festival host, is pleased to announce that Kennebunk Savings will once again serve as the Underwriting Sponsor.

Dover's premier holiday festival will feature 32 trees sponsored and decorated by local businesses, all available to be taken home through silent and live auctions. The event also includes choir performances, free goodie bags and a scavenger hunt for children, refreshments and holiday desserts, and even a visit from Santa.

The Festival of Trees is a fundraiser that benefits City Lights, a volunteer group dedicated to illuminating downtown Dover during the holiday season.

City of Dover advises CodeRED users of service interruption

The City of Dover is advising residents that CodeRED, the third-party vendor that provides the city's telephone, text and email alerting service, has been affected by a nationwide cybersecurity incident involving the vendor's systems. The issue is entirely within CodeRED's system; no City of Dover systems, networks or data have been affected.

According to information provided by CodeRED's parent company, the attack resulted in unauthorized access to the vendor's legacy alerting platform and the removal of some user account data. Because access to CodeRED's managed accounts is not currently available, residents cannot log in to view or update their CodeRED account information.

Although CodeRED accounts cannot be accessed during the outage, the vendor recommends that anyone who used a password for CodeRED that is also used for any other online account should change the password on those other accounts as a precaution.

The City of Dover primarily uses CodeRED to issue winter parking ban notifications, but those automated alerts are currently unavailable.

Email notifications from the city, including parking ban notifications, remain available. Residents may sign up to receive parking-ban updates and other city communications at https://bit.ly/doverupdates and by selecting "Parking Ban Alerts" from the list.

The City of Dover is currently assessing options for a new notification system.

Residents who previously subscribed to CodeRED should stay alert for winter weather announcements and parking-ban notices posted on the city website, social media channels, DoverTV, local media outlets, and through email updates.

Staff and family members of Dover's Community Services Department took first place in the civic division for parade floats.

Annual Holiday Parade available online and on DoverTV

The Dover Holiday Parade is organized by the Cochecho Friends, a volunteer committee that includes Nicole Andrews, Robert Carrier, Angela Carter, Aaron Cronkrite, Lori Nollet, Michelle Routhouska, Mayor-elect Dennis Shanahan, and Samantha Tukey.

Tri-City Mayors share holiday cheer with reading of "The Mitten"

The Tri-City mayors of Dover, Rochester and Somersworth continued a seasonal tradition by gathering to read the classic children's book "The Mitten" and share warm holiday wishes with residents across the region.

Somersworth Mayor Matt Gerding, Dover Mayor Robert Carrier, and Rochester Mayor Paul Callaghan appear together in the video, offering greetings before taking turns reading Jan Brett's beloved winter tale about a lost mitten, a determined boy, and the woodland animals who find shelter inside it.

The joint reading, shared with all three communities, highlights the mayors' ongoing commitment to spreading goodwill during the holiday season. After the story, each mayor offers personal messages of cheer.

The following events are from various historical records, sources, and texts about the history of Dover.

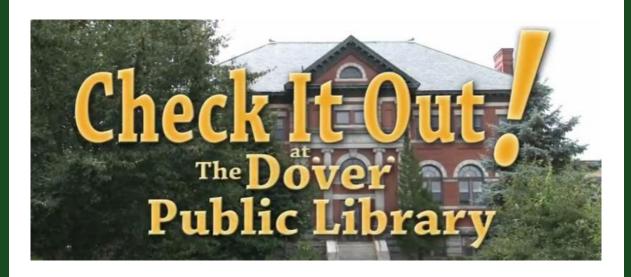

For more on the history of Dover, visit the Dover Public Library, Locust Street, and the Woodman Museum on Central Avenue. The Public Library also maintains an online collection of historical information located here.

Dec. 8, 1643 — The town voted that no one was allowed to cut timber on public land, whether for clapboards, pipe staves, planks, or boards, unless they first received permission from the town officials. At this time, Dover was still a young colonial settlement. Timber was one of the community's most valuable resources, essential for building homes, ships, barrels, and everyday tools. Because forests were a cornerstone of the early economy, towns imposed strict regulations to prevent over-harvesting and to ensure that valuable wood products, such as clapboards for siding and staves for barrels used in shipping, were managed responsibly.

Dec. 8, 1811 — Samuel Bragg, Jr., editor and printer of the Dover Sun, died on this day. The newspaper reported his death as follows: "In the death of Mr. Bragg the town of Dover has experienced a great loss. He was a very industrious and enterprising man of steady habits and attention to his business. He had by his assiduity and great diligence acquired a very handsome property, when about twelve months since, while absent on a journey he was in a moment stripped of almost every dollar by the all-devouring element of fire. This disaster took such hold of his mind, as, after a while, to produce a dejection of spirits, and invite a complication of disorders which has thus early put a period to his mortal existence."

Dec. 8, 1837 — The Universalist Church on Third Street was dedicated on this day.

Dec. 7, 2001 — The City of Dover honored two local residents, George Estee and Al Reaume, on the 60th anniversary of the attack on Pearl Harbor. Both men survived the 1941 assault that drew the United States into World War II. Estee, stationed at Wheeler Field, recalled witnessing the first explosions and narrowly escaping friendly fire. Reaume, an anti-aircraft gunner from Somersworth, awoke to the bombing and rushed to his post on Red Hill. At Dover City Hall, the men received keys to the city and commendations recognizing their service and the sacrifices of that historic day.

How to help:

Collect new toys within your organization for age groups from newborn to 12 years old. If looking for a specific need to fill, the infant and 9-12 age groups are always in need for both boys and girls. If you need a collection box, please call 603-516-TOYS, leave a message, and we will get you one for your business. Collection boxes will be distributed this month.

Purchase gift cards to area businesses, mall stores, and grocery stores are always appreciated.

Shop for hats and mittens, gloves and scarves that are needed for the cold winter. These gifts help ensure each child receives these essentials.

Collecting monetary donations within an organization and shopping for gifts helps greatly. If you don't have time to shop for these items, the Toy Bank will do it for you.

Monetary contributions can be picked up on location or mailed to Dover Fire Toy Bank, P.O. Box 1712, Dover, NH 03821-1712. Please make checks payable to The Dover Fire Toy Bank.

For more information, call 603-516-TOYS (8697).

Dover Police Department accepting names for annual Christmas Basket Program

Chief David A. Terlemezian announced this week that the Dover Police Department is now accepting names, addresses, and phone numbers of needy families residing in Dover for the annual Christmas Basket Program. The Dover Police Department conducts this program each December to provide a Christmas dinner to families in Dover.

Last year, 150 baskets of food were distributed to families throughout the community. In addition, a large quantity of food was provided to the Dover Children's Home and My Friend's Place.

Those wishing to donate to this program may bring non-perishable food items, canned goods, or monetary donations to the Dover Police Department at 46 Chestnut St. (checks should be made payable to Dover Police Charities). If you cannot deliver your food donations to the police station, call 603-742-4646 and pick up will be arranged.

Employees of the Dover Police Department, and their families, will prepare and deliver the baskets on Dec. 20, 2025.

For more information, contact the Dover Police Department at 603-742-4646 or a.mitrushi@dover.nh.gov.
