School Board adopts FY2027 budget

City Manager to present city-wide budget next month

The School Board unanimously adopted the School Department's FY2027 budget at its regular meeting on Jan. 12, 2026. The adopted budget will be included in the overall city-wide budget that City Manager J. Michael Joyal, Jr. will present to the City Council on Wednesday, Feb. 11, 2026.

The School Department's adopted budget totals $102,782,977, which includes an operating budget of $97,147,239 and a special revenue budget of $5,635,738. The amount raised by local property taxes to fund the adopted operating budget exceeds the school portion of the estimated tax-capped levy by $1,976,767, according to department documents.

Superintendent Christine Boston and Chief Financial Officer Michael Limanni will provide an overview of the School Department's budget to the City Council at a workshop on Wednesday, Feb. 18, 2026. The public hearing on the education portion of the budget will be held at the City Council's meeting on Wednesday, Feb. 25, 2026. The City Council is tentatively scheduled to adopt the city's FY27 budget on April 1, 2026, with a budget adoption fallback date

Tuesday,
Thursday,
Saturday:
8:30 a.m. to 3:30
p.m.

Sunday (through Dec. 7):
8:30 a.m. to

of Wednesday, April 8, 2026. City ordinance requires the budget to be adopted annually by April 15.

The School Department's adopted budget does not cut any teaching positions, which Superintendent Boston said makes up about 70% of the department's expenditures. It anticipates an increase of about $5.3 million in wages and benefits from new contracts with the school district's three unions currently under negotiation. The budget also anticipates $160,022 increase in the facilities contract and $527,821 in special education transportation costs, among other budget drivers.

School Board members are hopeful that some of the budget line items will come in lower than currently estimated. School Board Secretary Craig Flynn noted that CFO Limanni used conservative estimates, with some expenditure numbers being reduced since the School Board began its review, as budget numbers firm.

School Board Chair Robin Trefethen said the budget does not include any extras: only what is required by law or fills in gaps from reductions in federal and state funding. One requirement is funding a new full-time high school social studies teacher to meet new state graduation requirements for an additional social studies credit. The budget will also fund a Dover Adult Learning counselor, previously grant-funded.

The School Board began its budget review on Nov. 17, 2026, with a presentation from CFO Limanni and Superintendent Boston, followed by six budget workshops leading up to the Jan. 12 budget adoption. Video recordings of the budget discussions and related documents are posted on the city's FY2027 Budget Revealed online resource.

Fire Chief Perry Plummer announces retirement after 40-year career

Fire Chief Perry Plummer has announced his retirement from Dover Fire & Rescue, concluding a distinguished 40-year career in public safety. His service includes more than 26 years with Dover Fire & Rescue, interspersed with nearly 10 years with the New Hampshire Department of Safety.

Plummer began his fire service career with Dover Fire & Rescue in 1986, rising through the ranks and developing a leadership style grounded in professionalism, accountability and service. His early years in Dover laid the foundation for a career that ultimately spanned local, state, national and international public safety leadership.

Beyond Dover, Plummer served as director of the New Hampshire Fire Academy, where he significantly expanded statewide fire and rescue training, increasing annual training delivery by tens of thousands of hours and strengthening professional development across New Hampshire.

He later served two governors as director of Homeland Security and Emergency Management for the state of New Hampshire. During that tenure, he also held numerous prominent national leadership roles, including:

- National chair, Homeland Security Advisory Council, National Governors Association
- United States co-chair, International Emergency Management Group
- Chair, Governor's Task Force on School Safety and Security
- Tri-chair, National Homeland Security Business/Government Consortium, National Emergency Management Association
- Liaison to the U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission for two governors

Plummer was subsequently promoted to assistant commissioner of the New Hampshire Department of Public Safety, becoming one of the state's senior public safety officials. In that role, he provided executive-level leadership and oversight across multiple public safety disciplines and statewide initiatives.

Following his state service, Plummer served as vice president for disaster solutions and public safety for The Gigunda Group. At the request of Gov. Chris Sununu, he left the private sector to return to state service and lead New Hampshire's COVID-19 response, which was recognized as one of the most effective responses in the country.

Throughout his career, Plummer has been a sought-after public safety consultant, mentoring fire chiefs throughout New England and serving as interim fire chief for the city of Rochester and the town of Salem. He also served as executive director of the Seacoast Fire Chiefs Association, strengthening regional collaboration and leadership development.

Most recently, Plummer returned to Dover Fire & Rescue to serve as fire chief during a critical period of transition. During that time, he focused on stabilizing department operations, strengthening leadership accountability, advancing long-term fleet and capital planning, improving working conditions, and positioning the department for sustainable success.

Over the course of his career, Plummer received awards and recognition in every position he held, reflecting the respect he earned across local, state and national public safety communities.

"It has been the honor of my lifetime to serve the City of Dover and the fire service," said Plummer. "Returning to Dover to help guide the department during an important chapter has been deeply meaningful. I am proud of this organization, its outstanding people, and the foundation laid for the future."

City officials praised Plummer's leadership and lifelong service.

"I have had the opportunity to witness and work alongside Chief Plummer throughout his fire service career here in Dover and during his tenure with the NH Department of Safety," said City Manager J. Michael Joyal, Jr. "Dover and the entire State of NH have been well served by his dedication and leadership as a public safety professional. I have no doubt that he has made a lasting and positive impact not only here in Dover but across the State of NH and beyond."

City offices closed Monday for MLK Day

First half of tax bills due next week

The first half of City of Dover property tax bills is due next week, on Tuesday, Jan. 20, 2026. The second half will be due on Monday, June 1, 2026.

Tax bills can be paid by mail, online through the city's Billing and Payment webpage, or in person at the City Clerk/Tax Collector's office, located in City Hall, 288 Central Ave., during regular hours. The online payment system accepts electronic check payments (ACH), subject to a $1 transaction fee. Visa and Mastercard are also accepted, subject to a 2.5% transaction fee on the total payment. Discover and American Express credit cards are not accepted. The payment processor collects the transaction fees.

Dover's tax rate, set at $19.68 per $1,000 of assessed valuation by the New Hampshire Department of Revenue on Dec. 5, includes four sections: Municipal ($6.91), County ($1.83), Local Education ($9.78), and State Education ($1.16). The rate is determined by the total amount needed to be raised by taxes ($127,421,722) divided by the municipality's total valuation ($6,482,774,600).

The amount to be raised by taxes is determined by the adopted budget for each section, with the city collecting the Strafford County portion ($11,848,376) and the State Education portion ($7,348,968) on the county and state's behalf. The amount needed to be raised by taxes for Municipal ($44,830,128) and Local Education ($63,394,250) portions is based on the City of Dover's adopted fiscal year 2026 budget for the General Fund. The Municipal section is for all non-school departments.

The tax rate of $19.68 is broken down as follows:

- City: $6.91, an increase of 47 cents, or 7.3%
- Local education: $9.78, an increase of 90 cents, or 10.1%
- County: $1.83, an increase of 8 cents, or 4.6%

- State education: $1.16, an increase of 6 cents, or 5.5%

The tax rate set by the DRA represents a $1.51 increase, or 8.3%, over the prior year.

The average residential property is now assessed at $527,204 ($524,638 last year), which includes the combination of all single-family, multi-family units, condos and manufactured housing. The tax levy for the average residential property will increase $843, or 8.8%, to $10,375. For the average single-family home assessed at $583,064 ($580,809 last year), the tax bill will increase $921, or 8.7%, to $11,475.

To calculate property tax for a specific parcel, multiply the tax rate ($19.68) by the assessed value and divide by 1,000. Find the assessed values for all property parcels in Dover on the Tax Assessment Office webpage.

Property owners may appeal their property tax assessment for the 2025 tax year by filing an abatement application with the Tax Assessment Office by March 1, 2026. Please note: filing an abatement application does not stay the collection of taxes, and taxes should be paid as assessed. If an abatement is granted, the city will issue a refund with interest.

There are state and local programs available for those having difficulty paying their taxes. For those in need of assistance, contact the Tax Assessment Office or visit www.dover.nh.gov/dovercares

For more information, contact the Finance Department at 603-516-6030.

Jan. 16, 1766 — Lee, part of the original territory of Dover, and afterwards of Durham, is set off and incorporated as a town.

Jan. 22, 1770 — Residents voted to construct a new bridge over the Cochecho River at what was described as “the upper wharf below Capt. Waldron’s mills at the lower falls.” This location placed the bridge near one of the most active industrial areas in town. To fund the project, the town approved raising 200 pounds through taxation, a significant public investment at the time. Men hired to work on the bridge were to be paid two shillings per day, but were expected to provide their own food and supplies. This reflects common 18th-century labor practices, when wages were modest and workers often shouldered the cost of daily necessities. Not everyone was convinced the bridge should be built. A follow-up town meeting was held on Feb. 26, 1770, to consider whether the original vote should be reconsidered. After a formal poll of those present, residents voted not to reverse the decision, reaffirming their commitment to the project.

Jan. 20, 1910 — With complaints pouring in about horse racing on Sixth Street, the mayor vowed to end the sport. A speedway, wide enough for four or five horses, was proposed on Silver Street, starting at Arch Street. But local horsemen, not satisfied with the speedway plans, convinced the mayor to create a new speedway through Torr’s Woods on Durham Road.

Jan. 18, 2005 — Dover voters went to the polls for a special election to choose nine members of a Charter Commission, created after voters approved a referendum the previous November calling for a review of the city's governing document. The commission was charged with spending the next six months studying Dover's charter and proposing possible amendments, or an entirely new version of the document. The election drew a field of 35 candidates, the largest slate in a local race in many years. Central to the discussion were questions about whether Dover should move toward a "strong mayor" form of government. Voters ultimately selected a slate largely opposed to major structural changes. The nine winners, in order of votes received, were former State Rep. Phyllis Woods, former Police Chief Charles Reynolds, former Mayor Pro Tem Tom Dunnington Jr., local attorney Allan Krans, former Mayor Wil Boc, former Fire Chief David Bibber, former Fire Lt. Charles J. Mone, former City Councilor David Landry and former state House Rep. Gary Gilmore. Turnout was about 12 percent, which was low compared to a general election but higher than some had expected for a January special election.

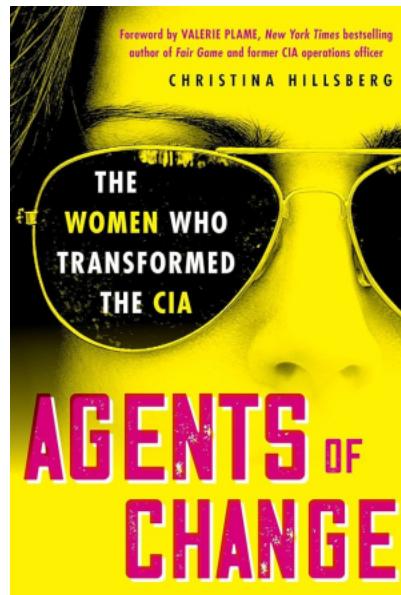

Discover the Fascinating Stories of the Women Who Transformed the CIA

Christina Hillsberg had a successful stint in the CIA beginning in the early 2000s but, when she left, she couldn't seem to shake the many stories she heard about women in the agency. Those who had sacrificed their personal lives, risked their safety, defied expectation, and boldly navigated the male-dominated spy organization.

On Wednesday, January 28 at 7 p.m., Hillsberg will join Dover Public Library virtually to talk about her new bestselling book, "Agents of Change: The Women Who Transformed the CIA". The program is in partnership with Tewksbury Public Library. Register to receive a link to the live stream.

In this presentation, Hillsberg will explore the pioneering women who changed the insulated world of international espionage — from the barrier-crashing challenges of the 1960s to the present-day reckoning.

Hillsberg's research includes exclusive interviews with current and former female CIA officers, many of whom have never spoken publicly. Seamlessly weaving together the individual stories of these exceptional women, Hillsberg deftly tackles not just the fight for gender equality at the CIA but also the current dilemma the Agency faces when dealing with the culmination of a decades-long culture of sexual harassment and assault. In this fascinating and empowering chronicle, Hillsberg takes readers inside the Agency in a way that's never been done before, paying long-overdue tribute to the survivors and thrivers, the indispensable groundbreakers, and the defiant rabble-rousers who made the choice to change their lives and, in turn, changed history.

Hillsberg is the recipient of multiple CIA Exceptional Performance Awards. Her work at the CIA included specializing in African politics and leaders as one of the intelligence community's few Swahili and Zulu linguists, producing analytic assessments for senior-level policymakers including the president and his cabinet, and serving in the CIA's Directorate of Operations, clandestinely collecting intelligence from the field. A recognized expert on women in espionage and intelligence tradecraft, she is also the author of "License to Parent: How My Career as a Spy Helped Me Raise Resourceful, Self-Sufficient Kids". Her writing has been featured in The Washington Post, The Seattle Times, Harvard Business Review, Parents magazine, The Daily Beast, Parade, and more. She lives with her family in Boston, Massachusetts.

This event is free and open to the public. For more information or to sign up, visit the library's website or call (603) 516-6050. If unable to attend, the program will be recorded and sent via email within 48 hours of the live stream.

Cook for the Books fundraiser to support Dover Public Library

Does Chef Evan Hennessey have what it takes to turn mystery ingredients into an extraordinary three-course meal?

Find out Tuesday, Jan. 27, at 6:30 p.m. during Cook for the Books, a fundraiser sponsored by the Friends of the Dover Public Library to support the library's ongoing renovation.

During the live cooking event, three-time Chopped champion Chef Evan Hennessey will prepare original dishes at his restaurant, Stages, using ingredients selected by public vote.

A watch party will take place from 6 to 9:30 p.m. at Chapel + Main, 83 Main St., Dover, with the live stream beginning at 6:30 p.m. The event will include appetizers, a light buffet, one cocktail or mocktail, raffles and a silent auction. A meet-and-greet with Hennessey will follow the cooking challenge at approximately 8:30 p.m.

Watch party tickets are $75 and may be purchased by cash or check at the Dover Public Library's temporary location at the McConnell Center or online at galabid.com/cook-for-the-books. Event sponsors and donors include Kennebunk Bank, Chinburg Properties, The Truette and Brady-Sullivan Properties.

All proceeds will go toward furnishing the newly renovated library spaces. Donations are also welcome and may be made through the Friends of the Dover Library's GoFundMe page at friendsofthedoverlibrary.org.

Hennessey, a Dover native, first competed on the television series Chopped in 2018. He opened Stages in 2012, serving progressive New England cuisine made with locally and regionally sourced ingredients. His honors include being named a James Beard Award semifinalist for Best Chef: Northeast and receiving the Award of Excellence from the Chaine des Rotisseurs for outstanding food and service. Stages has been named one of the top 100 best restaurants in North America by Opinionated About Dining for eight consecutive years.

For more information, visit library.dover.nh.gov or call 603-516-6050. The library has temporarily relocated to the McConnell Center during the renovation of its main building. The Children's Room is located in Room 305, while adult and teen services are available in the McConnell Center cafeteria. Library hours are Monday through Thursday, 9 a.m. to 8:30 p.m.; Friday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Saturday, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.; and Sunday, noon to 4 p.m.

To hear more about the event and learn more about Evan Hennessey, tune in to next week's Dover Download podcast, where Deputy Manager Christopher Parker chats with Hennessey about his local roots, his career, and the upcoming Library fundraiser.

Energy Tips

from Dover's Energy Commission

LEARN HOW TO MAKE YOUR HOME MORE ENERGY EFFICIENT

Your home may qualify for a free energy audit that can help you earn energy efficiency incentives and rebates.

- Free home energy audit through the NH Home Energy Performance program for qualifying residents
- Save up to 75% on weatherization costs (up to $6,000) or 100% covered for income-eligible Eversource customers
- Lower your energy bills and enjoy a more comfortable, draft-free home

To see if you qualify, visit:
nhsaves.com/residential/weatherization/

Does your house have a draft? Do you fear looking at your heating bills?

You may qualify for a free energy audit through the New Hampshire Home Energy Performance (HEP) program. This program is a comprehensive approach to optimizing energy efficiency and comfort in your home.

When you sign up and qualify, you will receive an email to schedule a free home energy audit. Your auditor will test your home's insulation and look for any problem areas. Then, your utility-approved contractor will prepare a detailed work proposal outlining all recommended improvements and available incentives. Once approved, the scope of work will be installed. Then a quality control inspector reviews the project.

This program covers up to 75% of project costs up to $6,000.

If you are an Eversource customer and your household income falls at or below 100 percent of the State Median Income, you may qualify for an enhanced version of the Home Energy Performance offering. The Home Energy Assistance (HEA) program covers 100% of the cost to weatherize.

To see if you qualify, visit nhsaves.com/residential/weatherization/.

To apply, you will need your home's conditioned square footage and one year of heating fuel usage history.

Critical need for blood donors

Every day, thousands of patients rely on lifesaving blood donations. The need for blood is constant.

More donors, especially those with type O blood, are needed to ensure that patients have lifesaving blood products available for emergencies and regular medical treatments, including for accident and burn victims, heart surgery and organ transplant patients, and those battling cancer.

Schedule a blood donation appointment through the Red Cross Blood Donor App, visiting RedCrossBlood.org, or calling 1-800-RED CROSS (1-800-733-2767). Learn more about the donation process.
