DOVER CITY COUNCIL

ON THE AGENDA

Coming up at the next City Council meeting

City electricity accounts, amending tax credits on Council Jan. 28 agenda

Workshop on Community Power, energy savings contract before meeting

The City Council will consider changing its electricity supplier for accounts that use a significant amount of electricity to lower energy costs at its meeting on Wednesday, Jan. 28.

The City of Dover is a founding member of the Community Power Coalition of New Hampshire, and has been purchasing its power through Dover Community Power after it became available to Dover residents and businesses in 2023.

Recycling Center hours:

Tuesday,
Thursday,
Saturday:
8:30 a.m. to 3:30
p.m.

Sunday (through Dec. 7):
8:30 a.m. to
12:30 p.m.

When Dover Community Power was launched, customers with Eversource's default electricity supply service were automatically enrolled in Dover Community Power's Granite Basic unless they opted out. Community Power provides different tiers of renewable content, up to 100% renewable.

Electricity customers have the option of switching their electricity supplier to and from Dover Community Power, or changing their renewable content. They can also change to and from Eversource's default service and third-party suppliers.

According to the resolution's background materials, the city may save more than $100,000 by changing its supplier to Eversource for the rate period of Feb. 1 to July 31, for the accounts that consume a lot of electricity, such as sewer pump stations and the ice arena.

An update of Community Power will be one of the topics of the City Council's workshop before the 7 p.m. meeting. The other topic is energy savings performance contracting, which looks at ways to improve energy efficiency at municipal buildings that produce long-term savings.

The City Council will also consider a resolution to amend the property tax credit for military service-connected total and permanent disability to $4,750. The credit is currently set currently set at $4,000.

The City Council will also consider resolutions that:

- Authorize the purchase of a fire tower ladder truck and ambulance.
- Approve the renew agreement and update for Municipal Alliance for Adaptive Management, the collaboration of Great Bay communities and stakeholders that are working to improve water quality and reduce nitrogen in the Great Bay Estuary.
- Approve the parking license agreement for Airey Row on Central Avenue LLC (former location of Harvey's Bakery) to use some spaces in the municipal parking garage.

The meeting begins at 7 p.m. and the workshop starts at 6 p.m. Both are held in City Hall's Council Chambers and televised on DoverTV and online.

City Council to hold goal-setting workshop Saturday

The City Council will hold a workshop to identify goals and objectives for its two-year term that began this month.

The workshop will be held in the Community Room at the Dover Police Department, 46 Chestnut St., starting at 9 a.m.

Cold weather, snow in forecast for Dover

The National Weather Service has issued a Cold Weather Advisory from 1 a.m. to 10 a.m. Saturday, Jan. 24, 2026, for Dover and the region, with dangerously low wind chills expected. A Winter Storm Watch will be in effect from 1 p.m. on Sunday, Jan. 25, through 7 p.m. on Monday, Jan. 26, with the potential for heavy snow of 12 or more inches. For the complete forecast, including weather advisories, visit bit.ly/doverweather.

Public safety officials are urging residents to prepare for the bitter cold and rapidly changing conditions.

"Extreme cold can be dangerous if people are not prepared," said Fire Chief Perry Plummer. "Dress warmly, check on your neighbors, and limit time outside during the coldest hours. Simple preparations now can prevent emergencies later."

Stay safe in the cold

Residents are encouraged to take the following precautions during periods of extreme cold:

- Limit time outdoors, especially during overnight and early morning hours when wind chills are most dangerous.
- Dress in layers, including hats, gloves and insulated footwear. Cover exposed skin to reduce the risk of frostbite.
- Watch for signs of hypothermia, including shivering, confusion, slurred speech or extreme fatigue, and seek medical help if symptoms occur.
- Check on vulnerable neighbors, including older adults, those with medical conditions, and anyone without reliable heat.
- Keep pets indoors whenever possible and limit outdoor exposure. Cold temperatures can be just as dangerous for animals as for people.
- Use caution when walking or driving, as icy sidewalks and roads may develop quickly as temperatures drop.

Waste Management delays curbside trash and recycling pickup by one day next week

Due to the anticipated snow beginning on Sunday, Jan. 25 and continuing into Monday, Jan. 26, Waste Management announced that curbside trash and recycling pickup will not occur on Monday, Jan. 26. As a result, curbside pickup will be delayed by one day all week.

For more information, contact Community Services at 603-516-6450.

Protect your home and pipes

Prolonged cold temperatures increase the risk of frozen pipes, heating failures and home fires. To protect your home:

- Keep indoor temperatures consistent, even overnight, and never set thermostats below 55 degrees. Community Services recommends setting thermostats to at least 60 degrees.
- Allow faucets to drip slightly to keep water moving through pipes during extreme cold.
- Open cabinet doors in kitchens and bathrooms to allow warm air to circulate around plumbing.
- Insulate exposed pipes in basements, crawl spaces and garages.
- Disconnect garden hoses and shut off water to exterior faucets if possible.
- Know where your main water shutoff valve is located in case a pipe bursts.
- Never use ovens, grills or outdoor heaters to heat your home, and keep space heaters at least 3 feet away from anything that can burn.
- Ensure smoke and carbon monoxide detectors are working and have fresh batteries.

Property owners who will be away for an extended period or own a property that will be vacant and unheated should consider shutting off water service. Shutting off service can prevent catastrophic flooding if a pipe freezes and ruptures while the building is unattended. To inquire about shutting off water service, contact the city's Water and Sewer Billing Office at 603-516-6028.

If you suspect a pipe has frozen or experience a water emergency, call Community Services at 603-516-6450 during business hours. For after-hours assistance, contact the Dover Police Department's non-emergency line at 603-742-4646.

Warming Center open through weekend

The Willand Warming Center at 30 Willand Drive in Somersworth has been activated through the extreme cold period. The facility is open 24 hours a day through at least Monday morning. Visit the city's Warming Center webpage for more information about the Willand Warming Center, including transportation to the center.

In addition, residents are reminded they may use City of Dover facilities for warming during regular hours.

Citywide parking ban in Dover begins Sunday night at 8 p.m.

Another ban may be declared Monday night for cleanup

Due to the forecast of snow beginning on Sunday, Jan. 25, a citywide parking ban will go into effect at 8 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 25, and will conclude Monday, Jan. 26, at 6 a.m. The ban will be in effect downtown on Monday, Jan. 26, from 1 a.m. to 6 a.m. only. (View map of downtown area.)

While in effect, parking is banned on:

- City streets, sidewalks or adjacent public parking areas.
- Third Street and Belknap parking lots, and Orchard Street lot public parking spaces.

While in effect, limited parking is allowed on:

- The Fourth Street lot's outside spaces only.
- Only in the two rows closest to Atkinson Street in the Dover Public Library lot at 73 Locust St. Motorists must adhere to the 3-hour parking limit between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m., Monday through Saturday.
- The first two floors of the Orchard Street Parking Garage. Requires paid parking 24/7. The top three floors are for permit parking only.
- The Transportation Center lot, except for the spaces marked "Permit Parking Only." This lot requires paid parking 24/7.

In addition to snow removal, the parking ban allows Community Services crews to treat the roads with salt and sand, and keep areas open for safe travel.

Public works anticipates the need for a parking ban starting the night of Monday, Jan. 26 for additional storm cleanup. However, a parking ban has not yet been declared.

The National Weather Service has issued a Winter Storm Watch that is in effect for Dover from 1 p.m., Sunday, Jan. 25, through 7 p.m. on Monday, Jan. 26, with snow accumulations of greater than 12 inches possible. The complete forecast for Dover from the National Weather Service can be viewed at bit.ly/doverweather.

How to stay informed about parking bans

The City of Dover utilizes winter parking bans as needed through the winter season to clear the streets of snow.

Parking bans can occur during a storm or afterward for cleanup. When a parking ban is in effect, all vehicles must be off public ways and specific parking lots to avoid being ticketed and towed.

To receive email alerts, visit bit.ly/doverdownload and add "Parking Ban Alerts" to your email subscriptions.

The City of Dover also utilizes its website, social media accounts, DoverTV, and local news media to notify residents about parking bans. The Winter Parking Ban webpage has current ban status. The public can call 603-516-PARK (7275) to check the parking ban status at any time.

Seasonal winter parking restrictions

In addition to winter parking bans, several streets have seasonal winter parking restrictions in place from Dec. 1 to April 1, regardless of the current weather conditions. These streets have signs posting restrictions that prohibit parking at any time, day or night, between Dec. 1 and April 1.

Find the complete list of streets with seasonal parking restrictions on the city's Winter Parking Restrictions webpage.

For more information, contact the Parking Bureau at 603-516-6132.

This week's question:

"Have you used a city-owned parking lot or the parking garage in the past month?"

Let us know here: <https://polco.us/m7ycwu>

Please note that if you don't already have an account with Polco, the city's polling system, you will be asked to create one. Responses are anonymous.

Here are the results from last week's poll, which asked, "Do you feel Dover is welcoming to visitors?"

The following events are from various historical records, sources, and texts about the history of Dover.

For more on the history of Dover, visit the Dover Public Library, Locust Street, and the Woodman Museum on Central Avenue. The Public Library also maintains an online collection of historical information located here.

Jan. 26, 1793 — A group of Dover's leading gentlemen gathered at Capt. Shannon's tavern to mark what they believed was the full establishment of liberty in France. Following a formal dinner, the attendees offered a series of patriotic toasts honoring the French nation and its revolutionary ideals. During the 1790s, events of the French Revolution were closely followed in the United States. Many Americans viewed France's overthrow of monarchy as an extension of the same Enlightenment principles that had inspired the American Revolution.

Jan. 28, 1825 — The New Hampshire Turnpike, leading from Portsmouth to Concord, and passing through Dover, was surrendered by the Proprietors to the State for the purpose of establishing a free highway.

Jan. 27, 1882 — A public health scare gripped Dover as fears of smallpox continued to spread. According to a report published in The New York Times on this day, two people who had visited a local resident before his death were diagnosed with a mild form of the disease, known as varioloid. Although less severe than full-blown smallpox, varioloid was still contagious and alarming to health officials. In response, the secretary of the New Hampshire State Board of Health met with Dover's local Board of Health, the city physician, and other officials. Their decision was swift and decisive: all public performances, dances, social gatherings, and similar events were temporarily banned within the city limits to reduce the risk of further spread. Vaccination efforts were also expanded. The agent of the Cocheco Manufacturing Company authorized two surgeons to vaccinate mill workers who chose to participate, reflecting the growing role of employers in public health measures. Meanwhile, the county commissioners ordered physicians at the county farm to vaccinate all residents there. These actions followed an aggressive vaccination campaign the previous summer, when nearly 8,000 people were vaccinated at the city's expense in just two weeks.

In January 1923, it was reported that the Dover Police Department made 480 arrests in 1922, including 192 for drunkenness, 12 for exceeding the speed limit, 72 for illegal possession of liquor, 23 for illegal possession of liquor, 24 for keeping liquor for sale, and 9 for driving while intoxicated. According to police, despite the passage and strict local enforcement of Prohibition, there was a 40 percent increase in arrests for drunkenness.

Jan. 25, 2002 — Dover's newly elected City Council gathered for a full-day goal-setting retreat designed to move beyond campaign differences and establish shared priorities for the years ahead. During the session, councilors and city staff worked collaboratively to identify common goals and challenges facing the city. Among the top priorities identified were managing Dover's rapid growth, preserving open space, expanding affordable housing, revitalizing the waterfront to reconnect Dover with its historic identity as a seaport, and strengthening the city's long-term economic vitality. The council acknowledged several long-term challenges, including regional transportation issues, landfill closure planning, downtown parking needs and coordination with neighboring communities and state officials on shared concerns. More than two decades later, the tradition continues. The Dover City Council still holds a goal-setting session at the start of each term. The newly elected council, sworn in earlier this month, will hold its own goal-setting session on Saturday, Jan. 24, at 9 a.m., in the Community Room at the Dover Police Station.

Video highlights creation of “Reaching Across” public art installation

A recently released video documents the creation and installation of Reaching Across, a recycled metal public art installation at the entrance to the Joe B. Parks Riverwalk Public Gardens.

The video follows the project from early concept and design through fabrication, installation and a public ribbon-cutting ceremony held in August. Featuring footage of the artist at work, the installation process and comments from members of the Dover Arts Commission and city staff, the video offers an inside look at how the project came together through collaboration and community support.

Reaching Across was created by Durham-based artist Markus Weinfurter and is constructed entirely from recycled metal. The archway serves as a welcoming gateway to the gardens and Dover Riverwalk, symbolizing the interconnectedness of nature, humanity and technology while reflecting Dover's industrial roots and creative spirit.

The project was led by the Dover Arts Commission with support from community donors and partners, and installation was completed by Dover Community Services.
