Mayor recognizes Juneteenth with proclamation, flag raising

Members of the Committee for Racial Equity and Inclusion, School Board, City Council, and Zoning Board joined Mayor Dennis Shanahan in raising the Juneteenth flag in front of City Hall on Thursday, June 18. Before raising the flag, Mayor Shanahan read a proclamation declaring today, Friday, June 19, as Juneteenth Day in Dover. The flag will remain above City Hall through Saturday morning.

Juneteenth commemorates June 19, 1865, when Union soldiers brought news of the Emancipation Proclamation and the end of the Civil War to Galveston, Texas, one of the most remote slave-owning states at the time, freeing the last remaining enslaved African Americans over two years after the proclamation took effect. The day is the oldest nationally celebrated commemoration of slavery's end in the United States. New Hampshire has not codified Juneteenth as a state holiday but observes the day with a proclamation from the governor, per RSA 4:13-aa, adopted in 2019.

Cochecho Arts Festival announces lineup, kicks off July 10

The 40th annual Cochecho Arts Festival kicks off Friday, July 10, bringing another summer of free music, children's entertainment, arts programming and community events to Henry Law Park.

The festival, presented by the Greater Dover Chamber of Commerce, begins with the Friday Night Headliner concert series at the Rotary Arts Pavilion Stage. Friday night shows are held from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.

This year's Friday night lineup includes:

- July 10: Jon Nolan & Good Company
- July 17: Diaspora Radio and Lightheaded Collective
- July 24: Sneaky Miles and Coyote Smoke
- July 31: Wheel of Awesome
- Aug. 7: Caitlin Piper and Foxglove
- Aug. 14: The Speed of Sound

The festival will also include Tuesday morning Children's Series shows at 10:30 a.m. July 14, 21 and 28 and Aug. 4. The Creative Arts Showcase will be held Saturday, Aug. 1, from noon to 4 p.m. in Upper Henry Law Park. The festival also includes movie nights, including an outdoor movie as part of Cowabunga Fest, scheduled for Aug. 21-23.

Established in 1986, the Cochecho Arts Festival is one of the Seacoast's most popular summer music festivals. The summer-long event features a wide variety of local and regional performers and artists and draws thousands of people to downtown Dover each year. All festival events are free and open to the public.

This year's festival is underwritten by The Truette Apartments and Perch Cowork, first-time sponsors of the event.

"The Truette Apartments and Perch Cowork are committed to making a positive difference in the local community, as a first-time sponsor of the Cochecho Arts Festival," said Jackie Huber, asset manager. "It's a wonderful way to celebrate the vibrant arts community in Dover."

While all events are free, attendees are invited to purchase a Cochecho Arts Festival button, sponsored by the Rotary Club of Dover, to support the arts. Button purchasers receive a variety of benefits and will be entered into a raffle for two Adirondack chairs and ottomans, along with a propane gas fire pit, donated by Central Furniture and Appliances.

The chamber is also seeking local restaurant partners interested in offering discounts or special promotions to festival button holders. Restaurants may choose the type of offer that works best for their business, such as a percentage off a meal, a Friday-night-only discount during the festival season, a free appetizer or another small perk.

The button program is intended to support one of Dover's signature summer events while encouraging festivalgoers to visit local restaurants before or after shows. Restaurants interested in participating can contact Jed Allen, community events manager at the Greater Dover Chamber of Commerce, at 603-742-2218.

Festival sponsors include Burns, Bryant, Cox, Rockefeller & Durkin P.A.; The Truette; Mass General Brigham Wentworth-Douglass Hospital; Rotary Club of Dover; the Greater Dover Chamber of Commerce; and the City of Dover.

Downtown crosswalk upgrades begin next week

Parking restrictions, lane closures required for construction

A city contractor will begin upgrades to Central Avenue's pedestrian crossings at First and Second streets starting next week. The project is scheduled to be finished by Aug. 14, 2026, conditions permitting.

The contractor, S.U.R. Construction, Inc., plans to mobilize equipment and establish work areas on Monday, June 22, and begin demolition work on Tuesday, June 23. The contractor plans to complete upgrades to both crossings at the same time.

Work includes installing curb bump-outs and street lighting similar to Central Avenue crossing Waldron Court constructed earlier this year. These upgrades will reduce the pedestrian crossing distance on Central Avenue and improving pedestrian visibility in a high-traffic area. New drainage infrastructure will also be installed as part of the project.

During construction, motorists, pedestrians, property owners, and businesses should expect temporary impacts in the project area, including parking restrictions, lane closures, sidewalk adjustments, pedestrian detours, and short-term changes to access around the First Street and Second Street crossings.

The city and the contractor will ensure access to businesses, but there may be times when customers and visitors need to use alternate pedestrian routes or nearby parking. The goal is to complete this work safely and efficiently while improving pedestrian safety and visibility at these crossings.

In a video released this week by the City of Dover explains how the Waldron Court bump-out on Central Avenue is designed to improve pedestrian safety by shortening the crossing distance, increasing visibility between drivers and pedestrians, and supporting broader downtown streetscape improvements.

Public invited to charrette for former Liberty Mutual site

Members of the public are invited to participate in a community charrette later this month to help shape the future of the former Liberty Mutual campus in Dover.

The interactive planning workshop will be held Saturday, June 27, from 9 to 11 a.m. at 100 Waumbec Drive. The site, which includes 50, 100 and 150 Waumbec Drive, is being redeveloped by Brady Sullivan Properties as a mixed-use project now known as The Village at River's Edge.

A charrette is a community planning process designed to gather input from residents, stakeholders and local organizations. Participants will be able to share ideas, priorities and feedback on what they would like to see as future phases of the property are planned.

The former Liberty Mutual campus is one of Dover's largest redevelopment projects. The first phase includes residential units and commercial space at 150 Waumbec Drive. Future phases are expected to require additional Planning Board review and approval.

City staff previously requested the public charrette to gather community input on later phases of the project, including potential residential, commercial, recreational and public-access components. Feedback gathered during the workshop will help inform the project's overall vision while aligning with current zoning requirements.

Anyone interested in the future of the property is encouraged to attend. Light refreshments will be provided.

For more information, visit <https://bradysullivan.com/the-village-at-rivers-edge/> or contact the City of Dover's Office of Business Development at 603-516-6045.

IN CONGRESS, JULY 4, 1776.

The unanimous Declaration of the thirteen united States of America.

When in the Course of human Events, it becomes necessary for one People to dissolve the political Bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the Powers of the earth, the separate and equal Station to which the Laws of Nature and of Nature's God entitle them, a decent Respect to the Opinions of Mankind requires that they should declare the Causes which impel them to the Separation. — We hold these Truths to be self-evident, that all Men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness — That to secure these Rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just Powers from the Consent of the Governed, — That whenever any Form of Government becomes destructive of these Ends, it is the Right of the People to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new Government, laying its Foundation on such Principles, and organizing its Powers in such Form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their Safety and Happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that Governments long established should not be changed for light and transient Causes; and accordingly all Resolutions have hitherto been, that Mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the Forms to which they are accustomed. — But when a long Train of abuses and Usurpations, pursuing invariably the same Object, evinces a Design to reduce them under absolute Despotism, it is their Right, it is their Duty, to throw off such Government, and to provide new Guards for their future Security. — Such has been the Patient Sufferance of these Colonies; and such is now the Necessity which constrains them to alter their former Systems of Government. — The History of the present King of Great Britain is a History of repeated Injuries and Usurpations, all having in direct and indirect the Establishment of an absolute Tyranny over these States. — To prove this, let Facts be submitted to a candid World. — He has refused his Assent to Laws, the most wholesome and necessary for the public Good. — He has forbidden his Governors to pass Laws of immediate and pressing Importance, unless suspended in their Operation, till his Assent should be obtained; and when so suspended, he has utterly neglected to attend to them. — He has refused to pass other Laws for the Accommodation of large Districts of People, unless those People would relinquish the Right of Representation in the Legislature, a right inestimable to them and pernicious to the rest of the Colonies. — He has called together legislative Bodies at unusual, unconstituted, and distant Places, for the sole Purpose of fatiguing them out

Annual Declaration of Independence reading returns to City Hall steps July 4

Dover will begin Independence Day with a familiar tradition on Saturday, July 4, 2026, as the Declaration of Independence is read aloud from the steps of City Hall.

The annual reading begins at 9 a.m. at Dover City Hall, 288 Central Ave. Mayor Dennis Shanahan will speak as part of the program.

This year's reading takes on added significance as communities across the country mark the 250th anniversary of American independence. The Declaration of Independence was adopted by the Second Continental Congress on July 4, 1776, announcing the colonies' separation from Great Britain and setting out the principles that continue to shape the nation's civic life.

Garrison Players Arts Center performers will portray John Adams and Thomas Jefferson for the reading. This year, they will be joined by Josiah Bartlett, adding a New Hampshire voice to the annual program. Bartlett, a physician and statesman from New Hampshire, served as a delegate to the Continental Congress and was one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence.

The reading has been a Dover Independence Day tradition for more than two decades. The event was started in 2001 by former Mayor Wil Boc and has long been organized by Garrison Players Arts Center.

Garrison Players Arts Center is a nonprofit, volunteer-based community theater group dedicated to enriching the area's cultural life by presenting high-quality theatrical performances for family audiences. Established in 1953 in Dover, Garrison Players encourages people of all ages to enjoy and participate in the performing arts and to help maintain the Garrison Players Arts Center.

Please note that if you don't already have an account with Polco, the city's polling system, you will be asked to create one. Responses are anonymous.

Here are the results from last week's poll, which asked, "Do you feel city meeting agendas and supporting materials are easy to find?"

As the nation prepares to mark the 250th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence, This Week in Dover History will spend the next month looking back at Dover's role during the American Revolution and the year 1776.

While the Declaration was signed in Philadelphia, its meaning was felt in communities across the colonies, including Dover. Local residents were called upon to support the cause of independence, serve in the militia, provide supplies, and help shape the new civic life of a nation being born.

Over the next several weeks, we'll explore moments from Dover's Revolutionary past and consider how events here connected to the larger story of American independence.

The Association Test of 1776

In the spring of 1776, a piece of parchment arrived in Dover that would permanently alter the fabric of the community. Mandated by the Continental Congress and issued by the New Hampshire Committee of Safety on April 12, the Association Test was an uncompromising loyalty oath. It demanded that nearly every male inhabitant 21 and older solemnly swear to risk their lives, fortunes, and arms to oppose the hostile proceedings of British fleets and armies.

Dover's local Committee of Safety, chaired by the prominent Col. Thomas Westbrook Waldron, was tasked with the heavy burden of administering this mandate. The test placed the men of Dover in an inescapable position. To sign the document was to officially commit to the revolution, branding oneself a rebel subject to the hangman's noose should the British prevail. Conversely, to refuse was tantamount to treason against the nascent American state, bringing the immediate threat of property confiscation, the loss of civil rights, and complete social ostracism.

This stark, militant binary created a profound internal crisis, particularly for the area's robust Quaker population. Bound by deep-seated pacifist beliefs, the Quakers were strictly forbidden from bearing arms. Although many were not inherently opposed to independence and were willing to pay civic taxes, their religious convictions forced them into the perilous role of conscientious objectors. The Association Test offered no nuance, legally categorizing these peaceful dissenters alongside active loyalists.

Today, the original, physical returns of Dover's Association Test are considered lost to history, an archival tragedy that obscures the exact names of the local dissidents. Nevertheless, the legacy of the 1776 Association Test endures as a dramatic moment when Dover was forced to legally categorize its people, transforming quiet neighbors into declared patriots or suspected enemies on the eve of American independence.
