ON THE AGENDA

Coming up at the next City Council meeting

Great Bay Rowing waterfront ground lease before Council Sept. 25

Exploring solar array, amending CDBG actions plans also on agenda

Next week, the City Council will consider authorizing the city to enter into a long-term ground lease with Great Bay Rowing, allowing the construction of their planned boathouse near the Cochecho River at the waterfront development site.

The 40-year lease received an unanimous endorsement from the Cochecho Waterfront Development Advisory Committee at its Sept. 17 meeting. The ground lease calls for an annual rent of $12,000, which would increase by $1,000 per month every 10 years, with Great Bay Rowing responsible for operation and maintenance costs. The lease also calls for Great Bay Rowing to develop programs with the Recreation Department to educate the public about paddle sports. CWDAC also gave a preliminary endorsement of the boathouse design and tasked its subcommittee to work with 3:30 p.m.

Great Bay Rowing to help finalize the design. The boathouse construction would be privately funded and not use any city funds.

The Council will also consider taking a step towards installing a solar array at the city's wastewater treatment facility on Middle Road, a topic of a June 5, 2024 council workshop. The resolution would authorize the City Manager to execute a letter of intent with ReVision Energy, allowing the city to partner with ReVision to submit an interconnection application to Eversource, the first step in the process. The Council authorization would also allow the city to expend up to $75,000 for the process, with $10,000 for ReVision and $65,000 for the required Eversource studies.

The meeting will begin with three public hearings on pending resolutions. One is on a substantial amendment to the Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) actions plans for fiscal years 2023 and 2024, which received the Planning Board's endorsement on Aug. 27. Two others are on accepting and expending two N.H. Department of Transportation grants. One is a $4.5 million Congressionally Directed Spending grant for reconstructing Central Avenue between Stark Avenue and Silver Streets. The grant requires a $1,125,000 million city match. The other is on $3 million Congestion Mitigation and Air Quality (CMAQ) grant the city would utilize to improve Route 108/Durham Road from Mast Road to Daley Drive based on the recommendations of the "Route 108 – South Corridor Study" from Aug. 2017. The grant requires a $600,000 city match.

The meeting will be held in City Hall's Council Chambers starting at 7 p.m. on Wednesday, Sept. 25. It will be televised on Channel 22 and online at <https://dovernh.viebit.com>, where it will also be available for on-demand viewing.

Citywide hydrant flushing begins Sunday

The City of Dover Community Services' Utilities Division will begin its seasonal flushing of fire hydrants throughout the city starting Sunday, Sept. 22. Hydrant flushing will occur daily overnight from 8 p.m. through 6 a.m. from Sunday night to Friday morning for an estimated four to five weeks.

The city's flushing program is critical for maintaining water quality and pressure throughout the distribution system. During the flushing, crews open select hydrants to move water through the system with enough velocity to scour the pipes and remove the buildup of any naturally occurring sediment and minerals. Water flushing also ensures fire hydrants are operational and allows public works to assess water pressure and flow for firefighting purposes. Flushing locations are indicated by the presence of city vehicles with flashing lights.

No water service disruption is expected, though there may be brief times of lower water pressure. Hydrant flushing can result in discoloration in tap water, but the water remains safe to drink. To remove discoloration, run the tap for several minutes until clear. If discoloration persists, customers can create an online service request anytime or contact Community Services during regular business hours, Monday through Friday, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., at 603-516-6450.

Please note that if you don't already have an account with Polco, the city's polling system, you will be asked to create one. Responses are anonymous.

Here are the results from last week's poll, which asked, "How often do you visit the Recycling Center on Mast Road?"

The following events are from various historical records, sources, and texts about the history of Dover.

For more on the history of Dover, visit the Dover Public Library, Locust Street, and the Woodman Museum on Central Avenue. The Public Library also maintains an online collection of historical information located here.

Sept. 27, 1648 — The town council on this day stated that anyone who missed a town meeting without a good reason would be fined 6 shillings. In the 1600s, town meetings were deemed a critical component of local government. Participation was a civic duty considered so important that citizens could be fined for not attending.

Sept. 21, 1842 — Jeremiah Smith of Dover died on this day at the age of 83. Originally from Exeter, Smith spent the last years of his life as a resident of Dover. He was a representative in Congress during George Washington's administration, and for many years, he was a judge of the United States and state courts and governor of the state.

Sept. 23, 1921 — The H.E. Meader greenhouses on Back River Road expanded to offer over 1,100 rows of gladiolas, comprising over a half-million bulbs in 250 varieties. The greenhouses had sold over 100,000 bulbs the previous year.

Sept. 26, 1931 — 16-year-old Dorothy Drew was back in Dover after a short adventure in Boston. Four days earlier, she had scooped up some of her brother's clothes, disguised herself as a boy, and headed south to Boston. It was reported that she arrived in Boston's West End with high hopes for excitement but almost no money. While lowering her voice and asking a West End resident about where to find a place to sleep, a Boston police officer overheard the conversation and took both Dorothy and the man to the police station. Although her disguise had worked well so far, she finally gave in and admitted the ruse. She was reunited with her family in Dover a few days later, including her worried father, who had reported her missing almost as soon as she was gone.

Sept. 22, 1998 — City Prosecutor George Wattendorf, who had been instrumental in creating the state's 1993 stalking law, spearheaded the production of an educational video to replace traditional brochures for victims. The 15-minute film, shot locally with Garrison Players actors and Dover Police, depicted realistic scenarios and offered safety tips. The project followed a successful domestic violence video that had gained international attention. Funded by the U.S. Department of Justice, the anti-stalking video was set to be widely distributed through various channels, including video stores, libraries, and the internet. Wattendorf retired from the city in 2006 and entered into private practice.
