City seeks input for update of Facilities and Utilities Master Plan chapter

The City of Dover is updating the Community Facilities and Utilities Chapter of the Master Plan and wants your feedback. Each year a different chapter of the City's guiding document, the Master Plan, is updated. This year it's Community Facilities and Utilities, which was last updated in 2009. The new Chapter will take inventory of all city buildings, parks and utilities with an eye on future needs, including energy needs and resilience planning.

A critical element of this process is citizen input. The City

City's boards and commissions seek to fill several vacancies seeks public input on the various public facilities and utilities covered in the Chapter. The public is encouraged to complete an anonymous online survey, available at https://www.surveymonkey.com/r/3QYHN6N. The survey asks users to consider long-term challenges and opportunities for the City's municipal buildings and municipal water, sewer and stormwater infrastructure.

Paper copies of the survey are also available at the Planning Department Office in Dover City Hall and the Dover Public Library. Paper copy surveys should be dropped off at the Planning Department once completed.

Dover has contracted with Resilience Planning & Design LLC to help facilitate the public process and update the Chapter. Dover has worked with Resilience Planning & Design on numerous other Master Plan updates.

"It's imperative for the public to be engaged," said Resilience Planning & Design's Steve Whitman. "These are taxpayer's facilities, and we are planning for the future of the City of Dover. We really want to hear from them."

"A lot of the recommendations that will result from this chapter will help inform the City's Capital Improvement Plan (CIP)," Whitman said. "The Master Plan and the CIP work in tandem for long-range planning for New Hampshire Communities."

Whitman likened the process that homeowners undertake when doing long-range budget planning for big cost items such as replacing a roof or boiler. Long-term resilience planning is a substantial part of the update, such as how to reduce the energy consumed and reduce the amount of money to operate facilities.

The City's Facilities Project Manager Stephanie Cartabona stressed the importance of getting feedback. "This Master Plan chapter will help me work with department heads as we plan capital improvement projects and forecasting over the next five to ten years," Cartabona said. "We have to make sure we plan and budget in a timely manner, so we are not reactively making a replacement."

The Planning Board appointed a Steering Committee to oversee the creation of the Chapter. Its members include Mayor Robert Carrier, Otis Perry of the Energy Commission, Bob Berry of the Utilities Commission, Matt Sullivan of the Planning Board, and citizen representative Jan Nedelka. Perry chairs the committee.

The Master Plan project team includes Whitman, Cartabona

Part of the information gathering to update the Community Facilities and Utilities Chapter includes a site visit to each city facility. At some buildings, they will be joined by members of the architecture firm Placework of Portsmouth to help flag any challenges from an architect's perspective, such as code issues.

After collecting information this fall, the project team and steering committee will write a draft of future recommendations, which the public will be asked for comments. It's anticipated the Planning Board will consider its adoption -- after a public hearing -- sometime this winter.

Governor bans outdoor fires statewide

Dover Fire Chief says no burn permits issued until conditions improve

New Hampshire Gov. Chris Sununu issued a proclamation today, Sept. 25, 2020, that prohibits the "kindling of any open fire and smoking in or near woodlands throughout all 10 New Hampshire counties."

In a news release from Sununu's Office, the reason for the proclamation was "due to the drought conditions, low water levels in many communities, and an increasing potential for wildfires." In its weekly update on Thursday, the U.S. Drought Monitor declared Dover and much of Strafford County to be an "extreme drought." The region was previously considered to be in a "severe drought."

The proclamation prohibits:

• The kindling of open fire, including fires built for camping, the burning of debris, or warming, on all public trails or other public property, excluding public campgrounds

- The kindling of Category 3 "campfires;" a fire greater than 4 feet in diameter or a fire not contained within a ring of fire resistive material
- Smoking a pipe, cigar and/or cigarette outdoors in or near public woodlands or on public trails
- Kindling of Category 1 and 2 "campfires;" not contained within a ring of fire restrictive material or in a portable fireplace

In Dover, Fire Chief Paul Haas has issued a ban on Category 3 fires within City limits until weather conditions improve. He also noted the online burn permitting process at nhfirepermits.com has stopped issuing permits for week, so no resident should have a valid Category 3 permit in their possession now.

Haas said that Category 1 and 2 fires, which are small, backyard campground fires, are allowed if a resident holds a valid seasonal permit. However, Haas asks seasonal permit holders to check their email when they intend to burn for any further burn restrictions.

Those without seasonal permits will only be allowed to obtain them when the website, nhfirepermit.com, allows the issuance of those permits. "If the online system is down, we are not going to issue them," Haas said.

City Manager J. Michael Joyal, Jr., at the City Council meeting this past Wednesday, urged residents to be "very conscientious" and not unintentionally spark any fires. "They will quickly take off and could be quite devastating," Joyal said.

Drought conditions in Dover reach 'extreme' level

Water restrictions remain in effect

The U.S. Drought Monitor's outlook for Dover and the region worsened this week. In its weekly update Thursday, the Drought Monitor classified Dover and most of Strafford County as being in "extreme drought."

The last time the area was in an extreme drought was late summer to mid-fall in 2016. These are the only two instances of this level of drought since the Drought Monitor began providing weekly updates in January 2000.

According to the Drought Monitor, the potential impacts of extreme drought are:

- Crop loss is widespread
- Dairy farmers are struggling financially
- Christmas tree farms are stressed
- Wildlife disease outbreak is observed

- Extremely reduced or ceased water flow; river temperatures warm
- Wells are running dry; people are digging more and deeper wells.

The rest of the state is considered to be in "severe drought," except for a small region on New Hampshire's southwestern border with Vermont.

Stacey Herbold of the New Hampshire Dept. of Environmental Services' Drinking Water and Groundwater Bureau said there were some positive weather indicators in her weekly update.

"Scattered rain showers are expected early next week, and the 6-10 day and 8-14 day precipitation probabilities lean toward near to above-normal precipitation," she wrote. "According to the U.S. Seasonal Drought Outlook released on Sept. 17, drought is likely to persist over the next three months, but drought intensity is also likely to improve."

According to the National Weather Service Forecast Office in Gray, Maine, the year-to-date precipitation accumulation is more than 11.5 inches below average.

Drinking water update

In his City Manager's Report to the City Council on Wednesday, J. Michael Joyal, Jr. updated the council on water conservation measures.

City water users "have consistently reduced demand on our aquifers and our wells around the city by well over 3/4 of a million gallons per day," Joyal said. He noted the reductions have reduced the stress on City's public drinking water sources. "I think we are in good shape to last quite a while, provided we don't have any major fluctuations in our usage," he said. "We certainly are desperately in need of some rain long-term, consistent rain. Not just a thunderstorm."

Water restrictions remain in effect

The City Manager enacted mandatory water restrictions on Aug. 21 for city water users to ensure there will be enough safe drinking water for essential uses. Under the emergency order that remains in effect, the following water use restrictions are in place:

- No outside lawn watering or irrigation, including automatic sprinklers, automatic irrigation systems, and no unattended lawn watering
- No washing of vehicles, including automobiles, trailers and trucks
- No filling of swimming pools greater than 100 gallons
- Hand watering of gardens and new plantings is allowed.

Commercial car washes, agriculture operations, flower shops and garden centers are not affected by the restrictions at this time.

Water conservation efforts by all water users, including well users, will reduce the demands on Dover's water supplies. It will also reduce stress on water resources and ensure sufficient water is available to meet the needs of all customers, as well as emergency operations, such as fire supply. The emergency order is being enforced by public outreach, followed by warnings and potential fines of up to $250 per violation. For specific questions about the water restrictions, including usage, contact Community Services at 516-6450.

City officials also urge residents and businesses to continue to voluntarily conserve water in other ways, such as cutting back on shower times, only doing full loads of laundry when necessary, and turning off the faucet while brushing teeth, doing dishes and washing hands. Fixing leaks, including running toilets, can reduce individual usage by hundreds of gallons a day.

First Seacoast Bank to underwrite unconventional Apple Harvest Day

First Seacoast Bank (FSB) returns as the underwriter of Apple Harvest Day this year. Headquartered in Dover, FSB has served residents of the Seacoast area of New Hampshire since 1890 and they are committed to meeting the financial service expectations of individuals, families and locally owned businesses in the area.

First Seacoast Bank has been the underwriting sponsor of Apple Harvest Day for nearly 15 years.

"We are proud to continue our sponsorship this year, not only to support the Chamber but also to help bring the community together in a new way," said Tiffany Melanson, Vice President, Marketing & Public Relations of First Seacoast Bank.

The Greater Dover Chamber of Commerce is excited to announce that Apple Harvest Day will take place for the 36th consecutive year, but this time around, the festival will be offered in both an in-person and virtual format.

"I am continually impressed by the Chamber's commitment to the greater Dover community," said Melanson. "The fast and seamless transition of so many professional and community events to a new virtual environment is a true testament to the Chamber's ongoing positive impact and support of our local businesses."

Community Services Director John Storer inspects the ongoing Broadway culvert work on Thursday, Sept. 24.

Broadway remains single lane as culvert work continues

Broadway will remain reduced to one lane with alternating traffic as work continues on the Broadway culvert project.

Temporary traffic lights are set up on both sides of the lane closure to allow alternating traffic, which will remain in effect 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. The lane closure is expected to remain in effect for three months.

During this time, nearby businesses will remain open and accessible to traffic. A new parking lot entrance was created to accommodate visitors to Red's Shoe Barn.

Other traffic restrictions:

- New York Street will be closed at its intersection with Broadway, except for emergency vehicles. Local traffic on New York Street may use East and Ham Streets to get around the closure.
- On-street parking will be restricted on Broadway between Pierce and Ham streets because the travel lane will be shifted through the work zone.

The contractor, George Cairns and Sons Inc., expects to have the project substantially complete by Dec. 30, 2020. Additional paving for the area will be finished next spring. The new culvert replaces the partially collapsed aging culvert underneath the railroad. This project will fix the ongoing drainage issues that can flood Broadway and nearby neighborhoods during significant precipitation events.

The project plans can be viewed here: https://go.usa.gov/xGQ3F.

For more information, contact Community Services at 516-6450.

During the week of Sept. 28, 2020 paving work will begin on the following streets:

- Three Rivers Farm Road
- Homestead Lane
- Atlantic Avenue
- Blackwater Road

This work is the prepare the roadways for paving and includes raising structures, milling, trimming driveways. Work on Atlantic Avenue will include the application of a shim coat.

The work is expected to be complete in three to four weeks, weather permitting.

On-street parking will be prohibited on the affected streets between 7 a.m. and 5 p.m. while the work is ongoing.

For more information, contact Community Services at (603) 516-6450.

In weekly update, schools Superintendent thanks community for continued support in trying times

Inhis weekly update, Dover School District Superintendent William Harbron expressed his appreciation to parents and guardians for the time and effort they are "investing to support and assist" their children in the new educational environment. "The start of any new program can feel overwhelming," he wrote.

Dover Public Schools Update

To help with educational success, Harbron suggested:

- Establishing and practicing clear routines
- Have an established work area that is free from distractions
- Letting the child do as much of the school work independently as possible

Harbron urged parents and guardians with feedback or questions about their child's online classroom experience to contact their child's school principal.

"This is a transition and adjustment for all," Harbron wrote. "We are all continuing to learn and to adapt to the circumstances presented by COVID-19.

CORONAVIRUS DISEASE 2019 (COVID-19)

Your cloth face covering protects them. Their cloth face covering protects you.

How cloth face coverings help slow the spread of COVID-19

COVID-19 spreads mainly from person to person through respiratory droplets produced when an infected person coughs, sneezes, talks, or raises their voice (e.g., while shouting, chanting, or singing). These droplets can land in the mouths or noses of people who are nearby or possibly be inhaled into the lungs.

Recent studies show that a significant portion of individuals with COVID-19 lack symptoms (are "asymptomatic") and that even those who eventually develop symptoms (are "presymptomatic") can transmit the virus to others before showing symptoms.

To reduce the spread of COVID-19, CDC recommends that people wear cloth face coverings in public settings when around people outside of their household, especially when other social distancing measures are difficult to maintain.

The City Council recently unanimously adopted a resolution requesting the use of face coverings in public to help prevent the spread of the COVID-19 coronavirus.

Why it is important to wear a cloth face covering

Cloth face coverings may help prevent people who have COVID-19 from spreading the virus to others. Wearing a cloth face covering will help protect people around you, including those at higher risk of severe illness from COVID-19 and workers who frequently come into close contact with other people (e.g., in stores and restaurants). Cloth face coverings are most likely to reduce the spread of COVID-19 when they are widely used by people in public settings. The spread of COVID-19 can be reduced when cloth face coverings are used along with other preventive measures, including social distancing, frequent handwashing, and cleaning and disinfecting frequently touched surfaces.

The cloth face coverings recommended here are not surgical masks or respirators. Currently, those are critical supplies that should be reserved for healthcare workers and other first responders. Cloth face coverings are not personal protective equipment (PPE). They are not appropriate substitutes for PPE such as respirators (like N95 respirators) or medical facemasks (like surgical masks) in workplaces where respirators or facemasks are recommended or required to protect the wearer.

For more information, visit https://www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-ncov/prevent-getting-sick/about-face-coverings.html.

Sept. 25, 1983 - Cathy Schiro, a 16-year-old from Dover, N.H., surprised veteran distance runners yesterday when she led for nearly the entire race and won the Avon Half Marathon at Central Park. Her time for the 13.1-mile event was 1 hour 13 minutes 19 seconds, a United States junior women's record for the half marathon and more than 2 minutes faster than that of second-place Isabelle Carmichael. "She just kinda snuck in there," Miss Carmichael, 33, who finished in 1:15.44, said of Miss Schiro. "I said, 'Wow, who is that little person?' She passed me early, at two miles, then she was way ahead, and that was the last we ever saw of her."" (The New York Times)

This Week at the Library

Tuesday, Sept. 1 through Wednesday, Sept. 30, All Day VIRTUAL Cookbook Club

Join us for a virtual exploration of The Magnolia Table by Joanna Gaines. Throughout the month of September, send in pictures of your dishes created with recipes from the book and a small description of your cooking process, how you felt about the recipe, and/or your thoughts on the book. We will share your creations on our social media pages throughout the month. Photos can be sent to Emily at e.fortin@dover.nh.gov, or tag us on Instagram @doverpubliclibrary.

September 25 through Sept. 30 Fall Book Bingo Teen Challenge

Teens in grades 7-12 are invited to try out our Fall Book Bingo Challenge. Bingo cards will be available in the Teen Loft and at the Circulation Desk. The more you read, the more chances to get a bingo. Bingo rules: Choose a book to read that fits the theme of an open bingo square (must be a different book for each square). Keep track of the books that you've read on a separate piece of paper. Cross off five squares in a row (horizontally, vertically, or diagonally) to get a bingo. Each bingo earns a raffle entry, and a full sheet gets an extra five raffle entries (in addition to those earned for bingos). Bring your completed bingo card and your book list to the Reference Desk or send a picture to e.fortin@dover.nh.gov by November 30 to be entered into the raffle for a gift card prize.

Challenge runs from September 22 to November 30. For questions, please e-mail e.fortin@dover.nh.gov or call (603) 516-6050.
